

RUSSIA TO ASK ARMS TALKS

PROPOSALS NEARLY MET . . .

Added Road Funds Top $29 Million

Additional highway, road and street funding at a level of more than $29 million a year has been enacted or endorsed thus far by the 1969 Legislature.

That brings lawmakers within about $5 million of the total additional annual financing recommended by the legislative highway study committee to meet state, city and county needs over the next 20 years.

The remaining funds would be provided in LB1304, a bill which would increase motor vehicle registration fees. Senators were discussing the final highway revenue bill when they adjourned at noon Friday for the weekend.

Already enacted into law is the highway bond issue, which would provide the state with $30 million during the current fiscal biennium, chiefly to accelerate construction of the Interstate Highway.

Highway revenue measures which have cleared their first floor test would:

—Increase the state gasoline and special motor fuel taxes from 7½ to 9 cents a gallon, raising a net of $10.5 million a year in additional revenue.

—Allocate to the highway cash fund one-half of the sales tax collected on motor vehicles, raising about $4 million a year assuming a 2½% sales tax rate.

The sales tax proposal was accepted Friday on a 23-11 vote amending the highway revenue allocation bill. (See story on Page 6.)

In their first round of discussion on LB1304, senators rejected a proposal by Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton to reduce the proposed registration fee for local and local-commercial trucks from 50¢ to 25¢ of the commercial truck rate.

The highway study committee had proposed a 25% rate, but the Revenue Committee recommended 50% over Burbach's objection. His amendment failed on a 13-17 count.

If total revenue additions contained in LB1304 are accepted in subsequent legislative action, Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly said, the Legislature will have given at least first stage endorsement to the total funding package.

The study committee had recommended $3.5 million a year in funding from non-user sources in the general fund.

If the registration fee bill is approved, and previous legislative decisions on the gasoline tax and the sales tax are permitted to stand, additional funding for distribution among the state, cities and counties will reach the $19.5 million a year figure recommended by the committee.

(The highway bond money goes only to the state.)

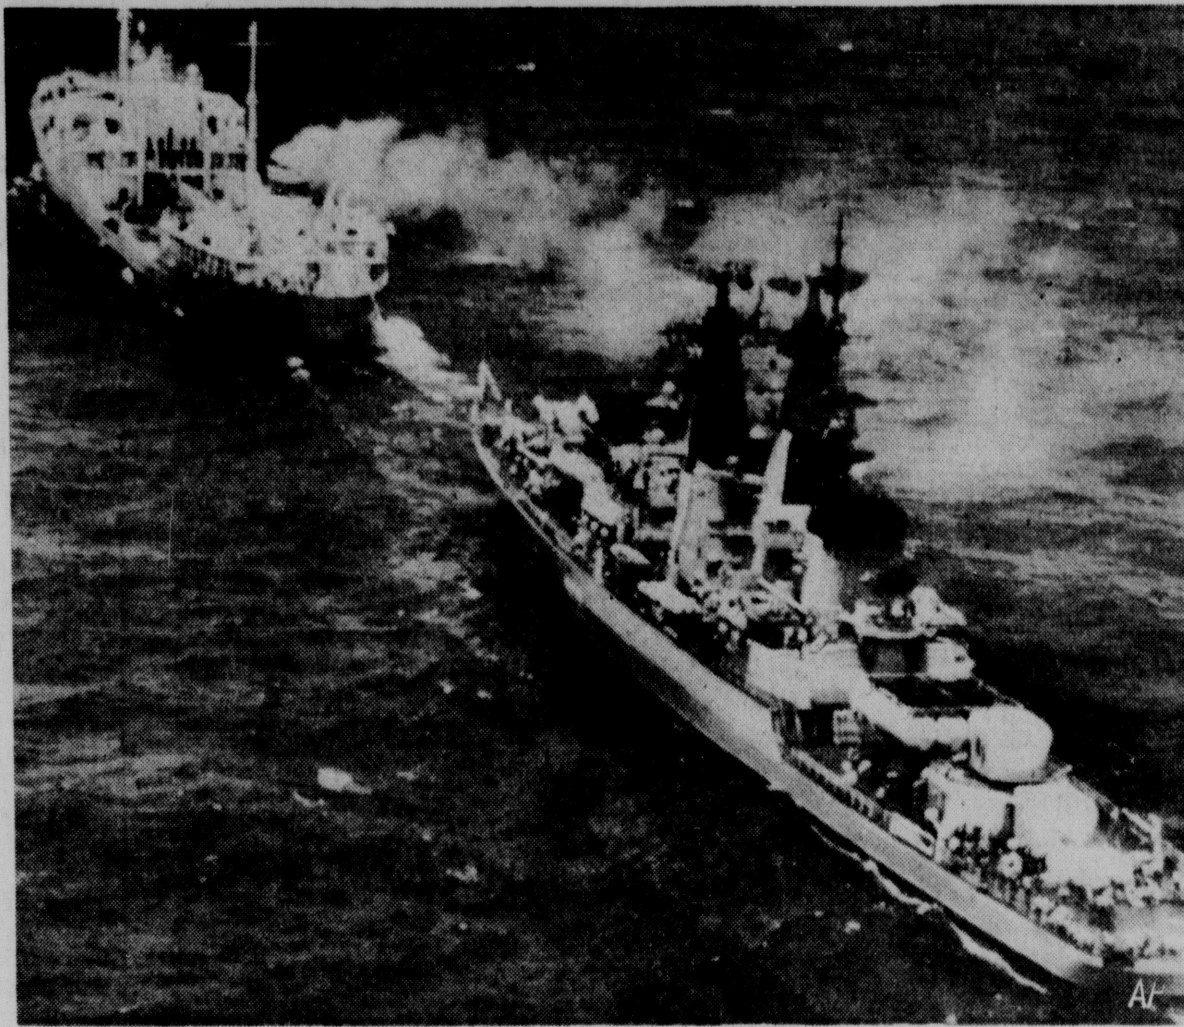

Then, highway allocation revenue would climb from $67.2 million a year (1967 figure) to at least $86.8 million. Anticipated revenue growth should add another $3 million or more to that total.

That total amount would then be distributed in 1970, under the formula endorsed by legislative action Friday, on a basis of about $46 million to the state, $24 million to the counties and $19 million to the cities.

Again using 1967 figures, the latest official totals available, county revenue would increase only slightly while city street revenue nearly triples from $7 million. The state would jump from $36 million.

(When you include the $15 million in annual-level bond funding for the state, total dollars for all units of government in 1970 would reach beyond the $100-million mark.)

Cities and counties should split highway revenue evenly, if the allocation were based solely on need, Warner said. But the compromise formula agreed to by the Legislature would delay the even split until 1974, allowing the counties a larger share of the pot for the next four years.

Active Teen Politician Finds Party Work Great First Step

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

"If you're going to become involved seriously in politics, you have to start by working in a party."

That is Lincoln High School student John Hennings' theory — and he is following his own advice.

Hennings is already active in partisan politics and is eagerly anticipating a career in some form of political or government work.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Ordell L. Hennings, the 17-year-old senior was one of the founders of the Lincoln Teenage Republican Club five years ago and now serves as co-chairman.

Top Teen GOP

He is also co-chairman of the state Teenage Republicans.

Holding top positions in the Teenage group enabled Hennings to attend the national training school for Teenage Republicans in Washington, D.C., recently, highlighted by a White House reception that Tricia Nixon hosted.

The list of training school speakers included such prominent legislators as Sen. Barry Goldwater Jr. and "one of the most dynamic young congressmen," Rep. Donald W. Riegle, according to Hennings.

Great Opportunities

After talking with other teenage Republicans, Hennings said that he is convinced "there is so much more opportunity in Nebraska to become involved in politics."

Hennings, "fascinated" with the political system and "always sort of a political activist," and a friend, Randy Beam, tried to join the existing Teenage Republican Club in 1964. However, the two were only eighth graders and refused membership.

"So we formed our own club," Hennings reported. The other group is now defunct, he added.

Much Footwork

During elections, teenagers have done a lot of "footwork" for the party — canvassing voters, passing out leaflets and promoting voter and registration drives. The group also has worked the Republican booth at the State Fair.

During what Hennings describes as the "off-season," the teenage Republicans are active in community projects such as raising money for Whitehall Home for Children and for a summer airlift to Biafra.

The Lincoln group has about 28 regular members, with attendance fluctuating "according to the political season," he said.

Give Teens Work

Hennings reported that he is "probably more conservative than Republican," but decided to become involved in the organization because "in Lincoln, the Republicans are the only group that gives teenagers an opportunity to do anything."

Soviet Attitude Said Favorable

... WEST OPTIMISTIC

•The New York Times

Moscow — The Soviet government is expected to respond favorably in a few days to President Nixon's proposal to start talks in August on the limitation of strategic arms.

Western diplomats said Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko's speech Thursday and private comments from Soviet officials left little doubt that Moscow will go ahead with the talks with a neutral capital such as Vienna, Geneva or Helsinki the likely site.

The chief topic in diplomatic circles continued to be the conciliatory tone of Gromyko's speech, in particular his gesture of friendship toward the United States.

Friendship Sets In

For the first time in about five years Americans are being treated with special attention by Soviet officials, and a period of "Mir I Druzba" (Peace and Friendship) seems to be setting in.

But diplomats were still trying to fathom the long-term significance of Gromyko's obvious efforts to relax tensions with the West while at the same time renewing Soviet warnings to China to use words and not arms to settle differences.

Diplomats, after poring over the full text of Gromyko's two-hour speech, tended to regard it as a synthesis of several Soviet policies.

On the other hand, the continuing quarrel with China has apparently aroused traditional Soviet apprehensions of being surrounded by hostile powers and Moscow is believed desirous of obtaining western agreement not to unsettle the status quo.

Opportunities Open

Also, an atmosphere of détente in the West would permit the Soviet Union greater opportunities for weakening the cohesiveness of the NATO alliance and would gain it wider acceptance of the permanent division of Europe, a long-term Soviet goal.

Western diplomats seemed united in believing that the continuing Soviet efforts to bring about an all-European security conference is aimed primarily at gaining official recognition for East Germany's sovereignty.

In his speech Gromyko called for talks on the Berlin question, but indicated the Soviet Union was seeking western agreement that West Berlin be recognized as a separate entity, having no special ties to West Germany, and its lines of communications controlled by East Germany.

The western view, as stated time and again, has been that West Berlin's status is covered by post-war agreement and that it should not be altered until an overall German peace treaty is reached.

Soviets Not Interested

Since such a treaty would lead to an end of Germany's division, the Soviet Union has shown no interest in recent years in such an accord.

American officials are curious over what reception Joseph J. Sisco, assistant secretary of state for Near East affairs, will receive when he begins talks here on Monday that will continue the Soviet-American dialogue begun in Washington on the Middle East crisis.

Some diplomats believe the Russians may use Sisco's trip as an occasion to go even further in improving the friendly atmosphere with the United States, which has already been celebrated by astronaut Frank Borman's nine-day visit here.

Another 800 Troops Leaving Mekong Delta

Saigon (AP) — Another battalion of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division will leave South Vietnam Sunday under the scheduled withdrawal of 25,000 American troops by the end of August, the U.S. Command announced Saturday.

The unit is the 4th Battalion, 47th Infantry, made up of "800-men plus." It will leave by air from Bien Hoa, north of Saigon, for deactivation at Ft. Lewis, Wash., the command said.

The 9th Division's 3rd battalion, 60th Infantry, left Saigon last Tuesday, the first unit to pull out, and already has arrived in the United States. The 9th Division is based in the Mekong Delta, south of Saigon.

Also being moved out in the first withdrawals is the 9th Marine Regiment, stationed in the northern part of the country.

Command spokesmen said the 9th Division contingent leaving Sunday has been in South Vietnam since Dec. 19, 1966, and "since that time has distinguished itself in three major campaigns."

The 47th Infantry soldiers of the 9th Division's 2nd Brigade were among those who received South Vietnam's highest combat award for valor, the Gallantry Cross with Palm. The soldiers of the mobile riverine force also received last week the presidential unit citation for their actions during the Tet fighting in 1968.

Spock Anti-Draft Conviction Overturned

Boston (UPI) — A federal appeals court Friday overturned the antidraft conspiracy convictions of famed pediatrician Dr. Benjamin Spock and three others. It said their criticisms of the draft and the Vietnam war were protected by the U.S. Constitution.

In its 53-page decision, the U.S. 1st Circuit Court of Appeals freed Spock, 66, and Harvard graduate student Michael Ferber, 24, of Buffalo, N.Y. It also ordered new trials for the Rev. William Sloane Coffin Jr., 44, chaplain of Yale University, and author Mitchell Goodman, 45, of New York and Temple, Maine.

The landmark ruling came exactly one year and one day after the four were sentenced to two-year prison terms. Spock, Goodman and Rev. Coffin also were given $5,000 fines while Ferber was fined $1,000.

Efforts To Continue

Vacationing on Martha's Vineyard off the Massachusetts coast, the white-haired baby doctor said the court ruling will make him "redouble my efforts to free those hundreds of young men still in jail around the country for resisting the draft and the war."

He urged "every American to write or telegram Richard Nixon to stop the war

now. And it can be stopped in a week if the people demand it."

A spokesman for the U.S. attorney's office in Boston said there would be no determination on further action by the government until the decision was completely studied.

The majority decision was written by Chief Judge Bailey Aldrich with Judge Edward M. McEntee concurring. Judge Frank M. Coffin — no relation to the chaplain — dissented and said all four should be freed. Marcus Raskin, 35, quiet-spoken co-director of the Institute for Policy Studies in Washington, D.C., was acquitted on the same charges.

Errors Submitted

The court said Rev. Coffin and Goodman should get new trials "because of errors in submitting special questions to the jury."

U.S. District Judge Francis J. W. Ford Jr., 86, who presided over the month-long trial, was unavailable for comment. During the trial, he said the "morality or legally or constitutionality" of the draft laws or Vietnam war were not on trial — only whether they violated draft laws.

"Concerning Goodman and the Yale chaplain, the court ruling said, 'The full evidence fully warranted the finding of an illegal purpose and a violation of law.' Their convictions would have been upheld, the court said, if the judge had not erred in submitting the special questions to the jury."

"The court agrees with the defendants that vigorous criticism of the draft and of the Vietnam war is free speech protected by the First Amendment, even though its effect is to interfere with the war effort," the decision said.

Expression Allowed

"The defendants were equally free to express commendation and moral support for those whose conscience compelled them to disobey the law, but it (the court) drew a distinction between such expressions and affirmative counseling, aiding and abetting violations of the (Selective Service) statute."

"All members of the court agreed that the findings of guilty were fatally infected by the district judge's requiring the jury to answer 10 special questions in addition to returning a general verdict. In the court's opinion, the effect of such questions was to restrict the freedom of the jury in reaching its verdicts."

"Accordingly, it held the verdicts could not stand," the decision said.

Goodman, commenting on the decision from his home in Temple, Maine, said he would "go on fighting the political system that created this war with everything I have."

The 12-man jury had found none of the defendants counseled young men to turn in their draft cards, but said all except Raskin committed overt acts to counsel, aid and abet young men to evade the draft; to aid and abet young men to turn in their draft card and to hinder and interfere with the Selective Service System.

Medical Experts Okay Astronauts

Cape Kennedy, Fla. (AP) — A seven-man team of medical experts pronounced the Apollo 11 astronauts Friday "ready for flight" as the countdown for their moon voyage ticked on schedule toward a Wednesday liftoff.

Dr. Charles A. Berry, chief astronaut physician, said crewmen Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins passed their final major physical examination with ease.

"Neil, Mike and Buzz appeared in good spirits," said Berry. "Their physical state looks good. A review of all elements of today's medical data indicates that the Apollo 11 crew is ready for flight."

Will Alert Doctors

The four-hour examination was the last of three which provided data for a computer-stored medical profile that will alert doctors instantly if physical changes occur with the astronauts during or after the lunar landing.

Information from the physical examination will be particularly important when Armstrong and Aldrin are walking on the lunar surface July 22.

As they work, computers in Mission Control will constantly compare the heart rates, oxygen consumption and suit temperatures on the moon with what is known about the astronauts on earth. This is to assure, for example that the spacemen do not become so exhausted that they cannot safely return to their lunar module (LM) landing craft.

Spacemen Rehearse

Following the checkup, Armstrong and Aldrin climbed into an LM trainer while Collins worked in a command ship simulator. With the two trainer craft linked electronically, the spacemen rehearsed how the LM will land on the moon July 20, blast off the lunar surface the next day and rendezvous with Collins in the mother ship.

The Apollo 11 crew received best wishes from Ethiopian Emperor Haile Selassie, who toured Cape Kennedy Friday. He spoke to the spacemen over a telephone hookup from the Apollo launch control center.

At the launch pad, technicians tested fuel tanks in the LM landing craft and wrestled with minor problems as work continued on schedule toward meeting Apollo 11's launch time of 8:32 a.m. Wednesday.

"There's no question the ground crew understands what's riding on this. We're certainly keyed up to a high pitch, but not to the point of being overconfident," Rocco A. Petrone, Apollo launch director, said in an interview.

New York Times
News Summary

(C) New York Times News Service

Washington — President Nixon said that South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu's proposal for a joint election commission to organize free elections had opened the way for a rapid settlement of the Vietnam conflict. Nixon sought to prod Hanoi and the Viet Cong by stating that the allies had put forth eminently fair proposals for a peaceful settlement.

Thieu Plan Said 'Farce'

Paris — President Nguyen Van Thieu's election proposal was branded as a farce and perfidious trickery by representatives of the Viet Cong's Provisional Revolutionary Government in Paris. The South Vietnamese negotiators are expected to present the plan during a session of the peace talks next week.

Soviets To Propose Talks

Moscow — The Soviet Union is expected to respond favorably to President Nixon's proposal to open talks on the control of strategic arms in August in a neutral capital. Diplomatic circles in Moscow continued to discuss the conciliatory tone on Soviet-American relations taken by Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in a speech Wednesday. (More On Page 1.)

Court Overturns Spock Case

Boston — The draft conspiracy convictions of Dr. Benjamin Spock and three of his co-defendants were overturned by the United States Court of Appeals. (More On Page 1.)

Tax Reform Plan Proposed

Washington — The House Ways and Means Committee approved more tax reform proposals, including the first partial taxation of interest from state and municipal bonds. Most of the reforms were highly technical, but were designed to close "loopholes" in present tax laws that reduce taxes for some persons. (More on Page 2.)

Savings Bond Interest Hiked

Washington — The Treasury Department announced a five per cent interest rate on savings bonds, retroactive to June 1, and coupled the announcement with a request to Congress to repeal the 4½% ceiling of government bonds generally. The new rate on savings bonds is subject to congressional approval.

Gas Warfare Tests Admitted

Washington — Under prodding by a House subcommittee, Army Secretary Stanley R. Resor admitted that the Pentagon is conducting open air tests of nerve gas and other deadly chemicals at three sites in the United States. (More on Page 8.)

Suspect Detention Advocated

Washington — The Nixon administration sent to Congress a bill that would authorize the preventive detention before trial of dangerous defendants in federal cases. Under the proposal a judge could hold a suspect for up to 60 days without bail if the suspect could be a danger to the community and there were a substantial probability of guilt.

ABM Discussion Shifts

Washington — The antiballistic missile debate in the Senate turned from confrontation to a search for compromise on radar sites for the system that would be satisfactory to the administration and to the opposition. Whether the search would be successful was doubtful, but at least the spirit of compromise was being brought forth by the opposition. (Another Story, Page 2.)

Rogers Invites Soviet Answer

Washington (AP) — Using conciliatory words from Moscow as background, the United States gently prodded the Soviet Union Friday to get on with arms-limitation talks.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers said a Thursday speech by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko "seems to be positive in tone regarding relations with the United States."

Then he politely but pointedly noted that Washington still is awaiting a reply from Moscow on U.S. proposals for an early start on bilateral discussion of nuclear arms limitation.

Rogers issued his statement shortly after Democratic and Republican leaders in the Senate had joined in the view that it is time for the Soviet Union to translate talk into action on arms limitation.

Willingness Seen

The key paragraph in Rogers' comment on Gromyko's Moscow speech said:

"He referred specifically to the willingness of the Soviet Union to enter into talks on strategic arms limitation. As you know, we believe that this would be a significant step forward in our relations with the Soviet Union and we are awaiting their response to our proposals for a time and place for such meetings."

A State Department spokesman told reporters there has been no Soviet response to the U.S. proposals, made several weeks ago, that talks start between July 31 and Aug. 15. Vienna and Geneva were suggested as possible sites.

Senate Democratic Leader,

Mike Mansfield of Montana told newsmen Gromyko's assertion that Moscow is "all for negotiation" is encouraging. But Mansfield said it is time for a clear answer on the U.S. initiative.

Dirksen Skeptical

The Senate Republican leader, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, said he's not going to be satisfied until real negotiations replace words voiced in general terms.

He added:

"It's the same old story. Gromyko talks softly about negotiations. But he doesn't say where and he doesn't say when. I'm not hauled in by this. I'm not persuaded that they really want to negotiate until they fix a time and a place."

Rogers said:

"We shall continue to examine other aspects of the speech to see, in consultation with our allies, whether any of them may offer themselves as vehicles for early resolution of outstanding problems between us."

Other matters touched on by Gromyko include a possible summit meeting and East-West talks on Berlin. These are being carefully studied here.

Red Forces Expected To Launch Offensive

Saigon (AP) — Enemy forces are steadily building up north of Saigon and the Communist command may unleash a new phase of its summer offensive within a few days, U.S. officers said Friday.

Citing captured enemy documents and prisoner questioning, the officers said the two danger points are the provincial capitals of Tay Ninh, 50 miles northwest of Saigon, and An Loc, 60 miles north of the capital.

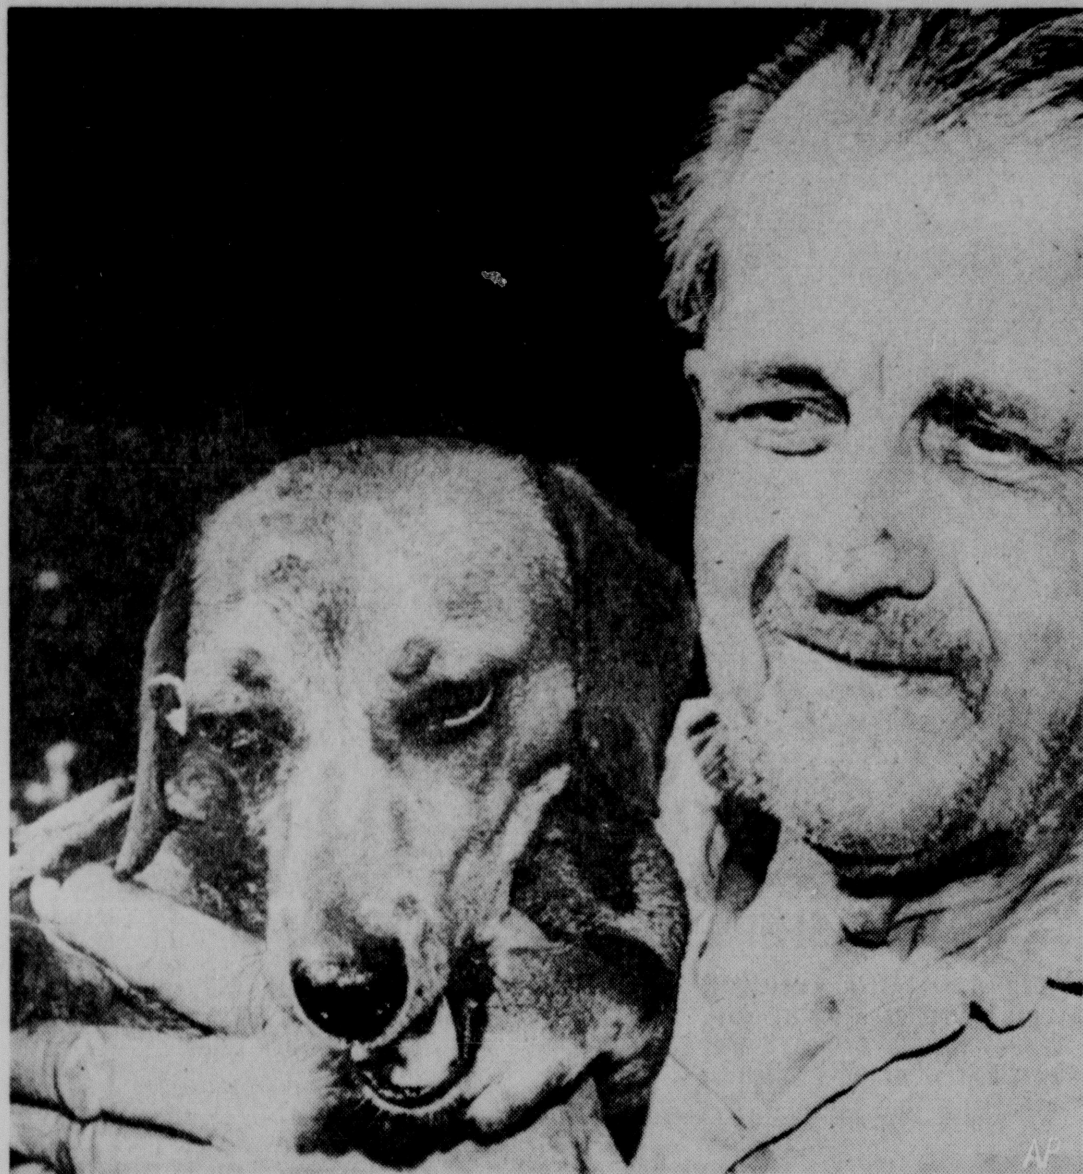

Part of Tay Ninh was invaded and An Loc was attacked in the enemy offensive that ended the middle of June. U.S. officers say the enemy was badly hurt in the fighting then and has had nearly a month to rebuild units.

Tay Ninh and An Loc are under the menace of three North Vietnamese divisions — the 1st, 7th and 9th. To try and keep them off balance, U.S. forces are maintaining pressure on all three, but so far they have run into no major units.

Four small clashes in the area were reported in 24 hours and U.S. forces reported killing 43 of the enemy without suffering any casualties.

In addition, U.S. B52 Stratofortresses dropped hundreds of tons of bombs on suspected enemy staging areas overnight around Tay Ninh and An Loc.

'DEAD' DOG MAKES RECOVERY

A dachshund, critically hurt when struck by a car and then shot by a lawman, was fighting its way back to health Friday in Davenport, Iowa. The animal was left for dead at a dump, but City Dump Manager Henry Koch, above, spotted the dog in the debris and cared for it.

Council Ignores Kiesinger, Puts Economy Problem Before Public

•The New York Times

Bonn — To the annoyance of Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger, West Germany's independent council of economic experts took their case for a revaluation of the deutschmark to the public Friday in a press conference that a government spokesman derided as a "spectacular."

Releasing the documented counsel that the chancellor — against the advice of most West German economic experts — has rejected, the panel warned of serious consequences to the booming economy if increase in valuation of the mark is not undertaken quickly.

The five-man council, charged with reporting periodically to the government on the economy, said that price stability and continued growth "can only be secured in the long run when the West German government decides on an adjustment of the rate of exchange."

Kiesinger Holds Fast

The sooner this is done, the better, the council added. Just 45 minutes before the panel was scheduled to present its case, the government's deputy press spokesman, Conrad Ahlers, said at the regular three-weekly news conference that "the chancellor holds fast to his views."

Ahlers noted that despite the council's upcoming "spectacular," Kiesinger is convinced there is no danger now to the economy and sticks to his statement that the decision against revaluation is "for eternity" — later amended to "eternity, under present conditions."

Without naming the council, Ahlers scolded economic experts for adding to national disquiet over consumer price rises.

"This discussion has a psychological effect of leading to price rises," he asserted. "These professors who take part know that these psychological factors play a role."

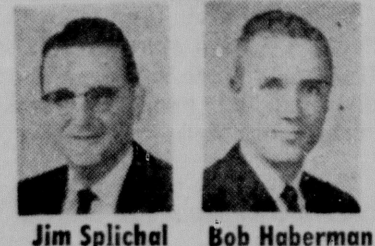

The council later estimated that under present economic policy, West Germany would suffer a rise in consumer prices of more than three per cent this year over last — a major increase for the West German economy.

Again without naming the council, Ahlers said that Chancellor Kiesinger would do what he thought was right "despite views advanced with papal authority."

The spokesman was asked if he did not think it "remarkable" that almost all of West Germany's economic notables have lined up with Economics Minister Karl Schiller and against the chancellor on revaluation.

ABM Supporters Nix Compromise

Washington (UPI) — Attempts to work out a compromise on the antiballistic missile dispute were publicly rebuffed Friday at the White House, the Pentagon and in the Senate.

Backers of President Nixon's safeguard deployment proposal insisted they wouldn't budge from their position.

The tone was set by the White House itself. Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler told newsmen that Nixon was confident he would win the hotly contested fight and has no intention of accepting a compromise.

At the defense department, a spokesman said Secretary Melvin R. Laird felt the same way and his position was unchanged.

In the Senate, backers of the ABM system led by Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen vowed to fight to the finish. They ruled out any major modification of the safeguard program and suggested that opposition to the ABM was trying to work out a last-minute deal to avert defeat.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield and other ABM opponents said they still had hopes that something could be worked out along the lines suggested by Sen. George Aiken, R-Vt.

But, told that Dirksen had again ruled out any compromise and even refused to discuss one, Mansfield was at a loss to explain whom he could bargain with.

Mitchell Says Vote Bill Protects Negroes

Washington (AP) — Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell testified Friday that legislation proposed by the Nixon administration would strengthen the 1965 Voting Rights Act and protect Negroes in all of the nation.

He told the Senate judiciary subcommittee on constitutional rights that a simple five-year extension of the 1965 law would be inadequate, that it would leave "the undereducated ghetto Negro as today's forgotten man in voting rights legislation."

Mitchell made no reference to the overwhelming voice-vote approval Thursday by a House judiciary subcommittee of a bill to extend the present law without change. The House unit ignored the administration proposal.

At the Senate hearing, Sens. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., and Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., contended the administration bill would weaken enforcement of voting rights by eliminating a requirement of the 1965 act that requires states and counties to get advance clearance from the Justice Department for changing their voting laws.

But Mitchell told them that on the contrary "our proposal is stronger" and provides a better method of preventing election law changes that would discriminate against Negroes seeking to register and vote.

And aside from this one change, he said, the administration bill retains all the safeguards of the 1965 act while broadening it to apply to all 50 states, to eliminate residency requirements or voting in presidential elections, and to set up a commission to look into voting frauds.

Corporation Tax Advantages Cut

Washington (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee has decided tentatively to trim some of the tax advantages corporation executives and employees can receive by stock ownership and deferred payment plans.

The committee, announcing this Friday, also confirmed another tentative decision — to encourage states to issue bonds whose interest would be taxable.

Tax-free income from state and municipal bonds now is extensively used by wealthy persons, banks and other investors to reduce and in some cases eliminate income tax they would otherwise pay.

Broken Bow Project OKd

$1.5 Million Flood Protection Plan

Washington (AP) — Rep. Dave Martin, R-Neb., Friday announced approval by the U.S. Corps of Army Engineers of a $1.5 million flood protection project for the city of Broken Bow, Neb.

According to Martin, the project would include channel improvement along Muddy Creek in Broken Bow, diversion of the south branch of the creek into the north branch above the city, levees and other structures where the branches join.

The work is authorized under the 1948 Federal Flood Control Act under which the federal government provides the first $1 million and the local community provides the balance.

City Responsibilities
In addition, Martin said

Broken Bow must provide necessary land, easements and rights-of-way, provide maintenance and operation and be responsible locally for the alterations of roads, bridges and other structures in connection with the project.

The Omaha district office of the Army Engineers told Martin the Omaha district has received funds to begin pre-construction planning. Actual work can start when funds are allocated and after local commitments are met.

School Housing Is Becoming Big Headache For Loup City

Loup City (AP) — The parish board of St. Josaphat's Catholic Church has turned down a proposal that the parish sell its school buildings to the Loup City public school system.

The Catholic elementary and secondary schools in Loup City closed at the end of the school year. The closing means that some 208 Catholic school children will have to be absorbed in the Loup City public schools.

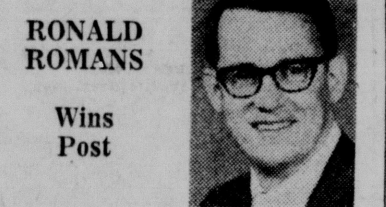

Loup City Supt. of Schools S. V. Chase said the school board is in the process of planning temporary facilities until new construction is approved by the voters.

The Rev. Daniel Fishburn, pastor of St. Josaphat's, said the decision not to sell the parish school buildings was made after it was determined that the structures might be needed for other parish development.

Sgt. Temme Arrives In State; Will Work On Father's Farm

Omaha (AP) — The first Nebraskan to return to his native state under the program of withdrawing U.S. soldiers from Vietnam, stepped off a plane at Eppley Airfield Friday and into his mother's arms.

He is Sgt. Ronald Temme, 21, of Wayne, who had served 22 months in Germany before being sent to Vietnam three months ago as headquarters clerk for the 3rd Battalion of the 9th Infantry division.

Temme was among the first contingent of some 800 to be pulled out. He is now eligible for discharge and plans to work on his father's farm near Wayne.

"This is a wonderful feeling," said his mother as she greeted her soldier son. Temme said he hadn't expected to be chosen for the initial group to leave.

He learned two weeks ago that he was on the list but he kept it secret from his family until Wednesday. Shock turned

Rev. Swanson, Swedeburg, Dies

Swedeburg — The Rev. Hjalmer S. Swanson, who recently resigned as pastor of the Covenant Church here, died Thursday at the age of 68.

The Rev. Mr. Swanson was pastor of the church from 1959 until a month ago when he resigned because of illness.

Services will be held at the Covenant Church at 2 p.m. Monday with burial in Wahoo.

Survivors include his daughters, Lois and Ruth Swanson, both of Wahoo.

With Gusto

Molly Brown, the comically uninhibited, guts-and-glory social climber of gold-rush Denver boom years, was played with gusto by Genece Filbert.

Her unassuming, rough-cut outdoorsman husband, "Leadville" Johnny Brown, was played by Mike Johnson, a baritone with a fine range and theatrical style.

Pinewood Bowl's 21st Production 'Enthusiastic'

By SAM THORSON
Star Staff Writer

A large crowd walked out of Pinewood Bowl in Pioneer Park Friday night whistling.

The event was the opening night of the Lincoln Civic Singfest Committee's "Opera in the Pines," and the musical was Meredith Wilson's "The Unsinkable Molly Brown."

Wilson is known for catchy melodies, and "Molly Brown" is best remembered for the song "I Ain't Down Yet," which was to be one of the most whistle-able show tunes ever.

Enthusiastic

The production was enthusiastic and uninhibited; the cast of Lincoln young people were obviously having fun with their parts.

The staging, done by Robert Willoughby Jones, made use of simple, clever props, manipulated by the actors themselves between scenes.

The resulting relaxed presentation complemented the casual open-air setting of the Pinewood Bowl stage.

Jones, who also produced and directed the play as well as conducting the orchestra and chorus, is the assistant conductor of the Boston Opera Orchestra.

Ronald was met in Omaha by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Temme, his brothers Vellvin, 17, and Albert, 15, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Art Magdanz, all of Wayne.

Her unassuming, rough-cut outdoorsman husband, "Leadville" Johnny Brown, was played by Mike Johnson, a baritone with a fine range and theatrical style.

Pentagon Says U.S.-Thai Pact Not Diplomacy

Washington (UPI) — The Pentagon hinted Friday that a just disclosed four-year-old defense arrangement between the United States and Thailand was "not a diplomatic agreement" but simply a military plan to be put into effect in the event of hostilities.

"The Department of Defense does not negotiate diplomatic agreements with foreign nations," it said in a prepared and unsolicited statement.

The State Department Thursday acknowledged existence of the 1965 agreement. But it disputed the claim of Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., that the agreement went beyond the commitment of the United States to Thailand under the Southeast Treaty Organization.

Father Chonta's Services Monday

Aurora — Funeral services for Father Raphael Chonta, 60, pastor of St. Mary Church in Aurora, will be at 11 a.m. Monday at St. Mary Church. Burial will be at Beaverdale, Pa., his hometown.

Ordained a priest in 1933 at Immaculate Conception Shrine in Washington, D.C., Father Chonta came to the Lincoln Diocese in 1952 to serve as assistant pastor of St. Mary's in Lincoln and later at St. John's in Plattsmouth.

Other churches he served were Immaculate Conception Church at Rulo, St. Mary Church at Arago, St. Vincent at Osceola, and Sts. Peter and Paul Church at Falls City. He served as dean of the Falls City Deanery before coming to Aurora last month.

DeLong, Molly's silver-tongued Parisian lover.

The musical, which will run again Saturday, Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday nights, is the Singfest Committee's 21st annual production.

It is a non-profit enterprise; everyone involved is so simply for fun, experience, or community service.

Sam Van Pelt of the Lincoln Rotary Club reminded the audience of approximately 1,500 people at intermission that the Summer Opera depended upon free-will offerings for its existence, and that $3,500 was needed to replace the aging stage after the current season. Buckets were passed through the audience for spontaneous contributions.

Well Performed
Wilson's witty and engaging score was well performed by the orchestra and chorus.

Although the incidental acting and comic timing lacked the shine of a professional production, and the acoustics were less than perfect, no one walked out on the performance.

Like the indomitable Molly Brown, the enthusiasm of the performance compensated for its lack of polish.

Wedding Is No Monkey Business

Omaha (AP) — An Omaha couple exchanged wedding vows Friday in the first wedding ever held at the Henry Doorly Zoo. Toba, an orangutan, served as "flower girl."

Sharon Miller, 22, and Robert McCarty, 23, were married by the Justice of the Peace Henry Meissner.

Being married at the zoo was Sharon's idea but giving Toba a part in the ceremony was the zoo staff's idea.

Toba appeared nonplussed by the ceremony.

"The zoo is the first place I brought Sharon on a date," McCarty said.

Sharon explained that she wanted to be married in some unusual place and thought of the zoo.

Donner's Body Found In Platte; Drowned June 30

Gothenburg (AP) — The body of a 17-year-old Gothenburg youth who disappeared June 30 in the Platte River was recovered Thursday about four miles east of here.

The body of Steve Donner was located in the river by his brother Jerry and cousin Merle McMichael. Gothenburg fire and rescue squads recovered the body.

Donner disappeared while he and three companions were floating in the river on inner tubes.

He is survived by his mother and two brothers, all of Gothenburg.

'Electronic Snooping' In GSA, Claims Curtis

Washington (AP) — Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., said Friday that "large-scale electronic snooping" is going on in the General Services Administration and may be occurring in the Interior Department too.

He called for investigations by the Justice Department and by Senate committees.

"This malodorous practice started under the previous administration and was so widespread that it has been impossible to root out in the six months that the Nixon administration has been in office," Curtis said in a Senate speech.

He said Robert Junzig, head of the General Services Administration, ordered an end to the practice, but it has continued anyhow.

The GSA is the government's housekeeping and supply agency.

Curtis said his information came from a GSA official, whom he identified only as Mr. X.

'Snooper Button'
He said the man found a "snooper button" on his telephone, and was told by a secretary that she had been ordered to monitor every telephone call made to his office.

Curtis said Mr. X talked with employees of the GSA and the Department of Interior and was told of "widespread, deliberate systematic use of snooper devices over the past two years."

He said the monitoring included calls from members of the House and Senate.

Curtis said the eavesdropping devices were installed by the telephone company, ostensibly so that secretaries on a third telephone could take notes on a conversation without office noise intruding. The senator said "there could well be an economic

Firemen Begin Strike In Newark

Newark, N.J. — Only 25 of the 200 firemen scheduled for duty here Friday night reported for work after their union had rejected a proposed wage settlement.

The men failed to report for the shift despite an injunction against a strike obtained earlier in the day by the city.

Officers were on duty, however, and the department said it saw no great hazard at present. The total membership includes 785 firemen and 235 officers.

Many men on the day shift elected to stay on duty, according to Fire Director John P. Caufield, and reserves were also being brought in, such as firemen on special assignment and those members of the department who were off duty but did not approve of the walkout.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

No one will ask you in the 1970 census if you are sharing your bath with someone else. They will ask you, however, if your bath is used by anyone else. If that isn't enough to make you mad, a few of the other questions probably will.

By the time the 1970 census is underway, it will have had created for it about as hostile a climate as this bureau of the government has ever had to operate in. Right or wrong, a storm of controversy has developed over the 1970 figures.

A lot of it centers around distortion or misrepresentation and some of it around personal philosophy. Some people just don't think the government should be asking you anything beyond a few fundamental questions of age, place of birth, marital status, number of children and occupation.

A big hassle is underway in Congress to clip the wings of the Census Bureau and limit its authority to ask you questions. Philosophically, some lawmakers think the census has come to be an invasion of privacy.

This is in keeping with a time-honored anti-government attitude that shows up at every election time. There are various shades of this attitude, running all the way to anarchy.

The American Legion Magazine for July quotes one member of the House who seems to think that the census is a potential monster in our midst. Congressman Cornelius Gallagher of New Jersey is quoted as saying:

"There is grave cause for concern that a 'power elite' could easily grow out of a national data bank in any form, and particularly that which the Census Bureau seems in the process of creating."

Maybe we are naive, but that seems to assume a degree of national stupidity that does not exist.

The idea of creating a "power elite" stems from the belief that enough information could be gathered to correctly predict voting results. But what would that accomplish?

Even without the government, we are getting pretty good at predicting elections. We always know what the major issues are and how the majority of the American people feel about them.

Presumably, too much information would allow the government to manipulate the public. We just don't see this as much of a threat. The American people are not so glibly that they could be constantly hoodwinked by any political party or any individual.

Also, it is said that 89 questions are too many to ask. This is where misrepresentation comes in. Only a few households will be asked 89 questions. Four out of five households will be asked only 23 questions, three out of 20 will get 66 questions and only one of 20 will answer 73 questions.

There are undoubtedly cases where a question might be embarrassing to a certain individual but this will be a rarity. And opposed to that is the fact that the census provides the government, business and industry a wealth of information on which to plan for the future.

One government statistician states that "if we don't have an adequate census in 1970, the entire social revolution of the 1960's will not be measurable and we won't be able to plan for the future."

The figures obtained in the census will help plan for meeting future employment, housing, education, transportation, general utility and other needs. It will assist in the relocation of industry and in the development of better governmental programs.

The census will not invade your privacy simply because your answers make you little more than another statistic. When you consider the tremendous use made of the census figures, we are asked to sacrifice very little, if any, of our privacy.

Anti-Crime Promise Bears Little Harvest

WASHINGTON — Figures are now available regarding the results of the President's anti-crime drive and show that during the first six months of this year, murders in the nation's capital have increased 40 per cent. There have been 130 murders during the first six months of 1969, during most of which time Mr. Nixon has been President of the United States.

Police figures also show that a high percentage of violent crime, including murder, was caused by drug addicts. Crazy for dope, they rob and murder in order to secure it.

President Nixon has now appointed a new chief of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, John Ingersoll, former police chief of Charlotte, N.C., who is tackling this problem constructively and conscientiously.

He has been approaching the narcotics problem from two angles:

1—Getting at the source, in other words tracking down the big dope peddlers;

2—A public campaign to alert parents and students regarding the danger of drugs in school and universities.

Commissioner Ingersoll believes, however, that the long-range drive against narcotics must come from the American public. To that end he has launched the following educational campaign:

1—High school principals have been called to the Justice Department from nearby Maryland for lectures on the danger and prevention of drug use among high school students.

2—The National Association of Broadcasters has promised to undertake an educational campaign against drug use.

3—The National Association of Retail Druggists is cooperating to prevent the sale of pep pills and sleeping pills as narcotics.

Ingersoll is handicapped by a weak law governing the manufacture of barbiturates and pep pills. The law does not require manufacturers to keep records of sales. As a result, these drugs can be delivered all over the country without knowing their destination.

Finally Ingersoll is asking the Budget Bureau for $25 million more to handle narcotics enforcement. "It's almost certain that Congress will vote the money if the Budget Bureau approves. But it will be interesting to see whether the Nixon administration, which was elected partly on a pledge to eradicate crime in the streets, will now put more money for narcotics control through its tight-fisted Bureau of the Budget."

Terry's Anger Justified

Sen. Terry Carpenter's anger with the University of Nebraska Board of Regents and board president Richard Adkins in particular has some foundation, in our opinion.

The regents, during a midnight session before the June 24 decision by the Legislature to add $10 million to NU's capital construction budget, assured the Scottsbluff senator that they supported his efforts to help engineer the increases to the Budget Committee's recommendations.

Thursday, as Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton sought unsuccessfully to reduce capital construction funds for NU by $9,275,000, Burbach told the Legislature that the regents told him they could live with his proposal to reduce the total appropriation to $5.8 million and that Adkins had given him his specific endorsement.

An angered Carpenter soon found that Burbach has correctly expressed Adkins' current position. "I couldn't repeat what I told him (Adkins) over the phone," Carpenter said. "I don't like to be used and it won't happen again." Adkins and everyone else can bet on that.

The result was that Burbach's effort to reduce NU funds lost by a single vote; but the capital construction bill faces perilous going on final reading. Only 20 senators voted against Burbach's motion and 25 votes will be needed to pass the almost $15 million measure — which includes $4.8 million for needed library expansion on the downtown Lincoln campus. The board of regents certainly has not helped the bill's chances by its vacillating stance.

The regents' original request for $24.1 million in capital construction funds was in the never-never-range—about what anyone would expect. But why are they willing to settle for the rather stingy $5.8 million advocated by Burbach? Either they are unwilling to scrap for the university's needs and will settle for anything they can get; or, hopefully, they have underestimated their legislative strength. This is the type of indecision that makes it so difficult for the governor and the Budget Committee to make realistic budget recommendations and for the Legislature as a whole to understand what the university really needs.

A Futile Proposal

And he proposed that an electoral commission, including NLF representatives, be set up to assure that the election would be held "in all fairness."

To strengthen his position and that of his allies to negotiate a peace settlement, Thieu should call on the communists to agree to participate in arranging an election this year, rather than waiting for the South Vietnamese elections scheduled for 1971.

This of course the communists will not do, for they fear the results. As much as the allies will concede to achieve a settlement palatable to both sides, it is obvious that the communists will settle for nothing less than a total sell-out of the South Vietnamese people.

BOB CONSIDINE

Astronauts Will Return To Prompt Quarantine; Nixon Will Share In Limelight, Not Kennedy

NEW YORK — The wonders of space travel come so thick and fast that we overlook events which a few short years ago would have been hailed as absolute miracles.

For example, we have Mariner 6 and Mariner 7 approaching Mars. Each is equipped with a television camera which will send back pictures of that mysterious red planet on July 31 and August 5. The unmanned vehicles will approach to within 2,000 miles of Mars after incredible twin voyages that began last February 24 and March 27. Mariner 7, launched a month after Mariner 6, has nearly caught up with the pacemaker because of the different positions of earth and Mars at the time of lift-off.

There are firm plans now in existence to land unmanned research vehicles on Mars and Venus that will send back surface-level pictures and enable us to assay the secrets of those planets. In the manned space effort, Apollo 12 — crewed by Charles Conrad, Dick Gordon and Allen Bean — will land considerably more scientific instrumentation on the moon than will be taken there by Neil Armstrong and Buzz Aldrin. Apollo 12's Lunar Landing Module will also alight at a different place on the moon than the pioneers.

If Apollo 11 cannot complete its mission, Apollo 12 will be sent up in September. If Apollo 11 is a complete success, Apollo 12 won't go until November. There will be at least three moon trips in 1970, 1971 and 1972.

The Apollo Applications Program, about which little has been written, is a going concern with at least two experiments on order.

In the first of these fantastic events, a three-man crew, launched into earth orbit by a Saturn 5, will leave their command module and enter the burned-out third stage of their booster. There they plan to remain for 28 days performing the most comprehensive study ever made of the earth.

They will be relieved by a fresh crew — sent up by a Saturn 1B. They will climb into the command module of the smaller Saturn and return to earth in the conventional manner. The fresh crew is scheduled to remain in the orbiting workshop for 56 days.

But all these wonders are presently eclipsed by Apollo 11, and understandably so.

It will be the greatest piece of exploration in the history of man.

The astronauts' thoughts are their own as their date with destiny nears. But one thought must pass through their minds from time to time, and that is the curious change that will soon become apparent in their relations with their fellow mortals.

As of now, no one can approach them for fear that the approacher may somehow infect them. Even a simple head cold could delay this $400,000,000 thrust at the moon. But when they return to earth, things will be

Government By Law

Lincoln, Neb.

In answer to the letter from Clayton E. Sheer, which appeared in The Lincoln Star of July 8:

More than 3,000 years ago, the Jews built into their social structure what was probably the first humane principle to control the way men could live together. We call it "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth." Most people today would consider that principle inhumane in light of the teachings of Christianity, but it must be recalled that prior to this principle's adoption, the rule was that of the vendetta. A life exchanged for a tooth. The sight of the eyes for a slight. A hand for a loaf of bread.

Just short of 200 years ago, another principle was made a part of the social structure of the United States: "A man is presumed innocent until proven guilty."

In jurisprudence, the above principles still govern and are the ideal of law in the United States, except that in addition, a place has been made for mercy in adjudication.

The Nebraska Legislature carelessly and thoughtlessly abrogated these two great social principles and opened the door to anarchy. They passed the bill to permit a citizen to protect himself, his family and his property from criminal acts by whatever means he deems appropriate.

A farmer catches a thief making with one of his chickens. In order to protect his property, he shoots and kills the thief — a man's life for a chicken. The Jews outlawed such lack of equity 3,000 years ago.

A farmer sees a man with a chicken he believes is stolen from him. He kills the man to protect his property. But the man with the chicken hasn't been proven guilty. The farmer merely believes he is. The presumption of innocence has been removed from our way of life.

In Lincoln a news story was printed of man who erected a sign notifying that vandals would be shot if caught in the act of vandalism. A life for a piece of property?

Two men claim the same property. Each sees the other as committing a criminal act in the taking of the property. They shoot it out! Perhaps two men dead.

Yet all of these might be proper acts within the scope of the legislative act.

It would be far better that the Legislature should find added means of strengthening and enforcing these two great principles as they exist now in our society than regressing to an anarchy of more than 3,000 years past.

The greatness of the United States lies in part in the fact that it has the ideal of government by law, and not by private caprice.

West O Traffic Light

Lincoln, Neb.
On behalf of the people in our area, I would like to thank Mayor Schwartzkopf and the members of the City Council for working out a solution to our traffic light problem. The people in our area will sincerely appreciate being able to have at least one place in the West O area where they can get across the street.

In regard to the editorial opinion, we were quite surprised that The Star did not support the installation of this light.

What is the difference between the citizens in our area paying the city to install streets, sewer lines, water lines and ornamental street lights and for installing a traffic light?

If there are 100 intersections in the city that need a traffic light, what would be wrong if the citizens in each area had the interest to pay for the installation of these lights?

There was no pressure brought by citizens in our area, but an effort was made to see that each member of the City Council and the mayor were well informed before they made their decision.

It would be nice if each intersection could be done exactly as a professional engineer would want it done, but the trouble is that there would not be enough money available in the next 20 years, so we have to accept something less than the very best.

LEWIS H. LATIMER

They Had A Dream

Lewis H. Latimer was a pioneer in the development of electricity and an associate both of Alexander Graham Bell and of Thomas A. Edison.

As chief draftsman for a firm of patent attorneys, Latimer prepared the patent drawings and helped prepare the applications for Bell's telephone patents.

Later he worked for Edison and for Hiram S. Maxim, another pioneer associated with the development of electricity for practical uses.

Latimer also was an inventor in his own right. His most significant patent was on a carbon filament for an electric light bulb.

Latimer was born in Chelsea, Mass., in 1848 and left home at 16 to join the Navy. He served aboard the U.S.S. Massasoit during the Civil War and was honorably discharged in 1865.

Returning to Boston, Latimer found work as an office boy with Crosby & Gould, a firm of patent attorneys. He developed an interest in drafting and eventually rose to become the firm's chief draftsman.

Around 1876 Latimer met Bell and "executed the drawings and assisted in preparing the applications" for Bell's telephone patents.

In 1880 Latimer went to work for Maxim, who headed the U.S. Electric Lighting Co. located in Bridgeport, Conn.

While employed by that firm, Latimer invented and patented a carbon filament for the Maxim electric incandescent lamp. He was granted that patent in 1881.

Latimer worked for several other companies before joining Edison in 1884. According to the Edison Pioneers, a group whose membership included associates of Edison before the year 1885, Latimer was employed in the engineering department of the firm.

Other accounts identify Latimer as a draftsman for Edison and later primarily as an expert witness in patent infringement cases in a period of widespread patent piracy in the field of electricity.

Whatever his accomplishments, the role of Latimer and of others among the Edison Pioneers was completely overshadowed by the genius of Edison.

In 1890 Latimer wrote one of the first books explaining the principle of the electric light and a short while later he published something entirely different: a volume of serious poetry he had written.

Latimer died in 1928 at the age of 80. The Edison Pioneers issued a statement at that time identifying him as one of the founding members of their organization and sketching his accomplishments.

He was described as "of the colored race, the only one in our organization."

die to live

The Book says this earthy body must die IF it is to live. How cheerfully the farmer plants his corn! He knows it must die, but he also knows that 'death' is part of the process of life. Immediately after the seed is buried in mother earth, all the ministries of God are set in motion to work a miracle. For it is said, that to make one little yellow grain, requires the sunshine and the rain, the hoarded riches of the sod — and God. It is all the miracle of Life. The hull rots and falls away much like the sins of a man being reborn of God. It is the Lord's way of carrying on His creative process to multiply the sustenance of both man and beast. Then thank God for life that is born of death. The fruit of summer and of autumn waits upon this death-to-life miracle of a good God, as a reborn soul waits to be used of his Lord. Then, there is no death... what seems so is transition. Come with me to church this week.

Vehicle Tax Funds For Roads OK'd

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature agreed Friday to allocate one-half of the proceeds from the sales tax collected on motor vehicles to the construction of roads and streets.

At a 2½% rate, the tax would raise an estimated $5,478,000 for highway construction during the current fiscal biennium. The allocation would begin Jan. 1, 1970.

The proposal, offered by Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly, was accepted on a 23-11 vote in lieu of a previous highway study recommendation that $9,375,000 be allocated to highways from the general fund during this biennium.

Warner's revised proposal, together with the additional one-half cent gasoline tax increase which the Legislature has attached to the one-cent tax boost recommended by the committee, would produce the same amount of revenue as the original general fund allocation figure.

Rejected Alternative

Rejected by an 8-28 vote was an alternative offered by Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton in an effort to hold down the proposed $6.50 increase in automobile registration fees.

Burbach urged the Legislature to allocate to highways the full proceeds of the sales tax collected on motor vehicles.

Without a dissenting vote, lawmakers accepted the revenue allocation formula for the state, cities and counties proposed by the Revenue

Committee. The vote was 26-0.

Under the proposal, the state would receive 53 1/3% of the enlarged highway revenue pot.

Remaining Revenue

Cities and counties would divide the remaining revenue on a sliding scale formula, reaching an even division of 23 1/3% each in 1974.

The allocation bill, LB1303, which also now provides for highway funding with motor vehicle sales tax revenue and appropriates $1,734,600 from the general fund for recreation roads, gained 32-1 first stage approval.

Sen. William Wylie of Elgin cast the single dissenting vote.

Warner said the additional one-half cent gas tax increase which the Legislature added to the single cent hike recommended by the highway study committee would raise about $5.3 million this biennium. The increase would not take effect until Jan. 1, 1970.

The highway cash fund would be short some $5.4 million (after gas tax refunds) if his motor vehicle sales tax proposal had not been accepted, Warner said.

Recovery of Funds

"This will virtually recover all the funds necessary to finance the projected program," he noted, assuming approval of LB1304, which would raise vehicle registration fees.

Settled by Friday's action was the highway study committee's recommendation that the general fund be tapped for $3.5 million a year as a non-highway user contribution to road and street construction.

The recommended $9.4 million general fund appropriation for this biennium included that factor plus allocation of sales tax revenue from motor vehicles.

That plan was revised in view of the Thursday decision to boost the gas tax by 1½ cents a gallon.

Sen. William Swanson of Lincoln characterized the changes as "a reasonable compromise."

Preferred Allocation

But Burbach suggested it would be better to hold the proposed $6.50 increase in automobile registration fees down to about $1 by allocating all motor vehicle sales tax revenue to the highway program.

Sen. Leslie Stull of Alliance warned that lawmakers may be "breaking the back of the taxpayer," and Sen. Ramey Whitney of Chappell cautioned that the highway study unit may have "set its revenue sights a little too high."

The sales tax allocation represents "a camouflage for a general fund appropriation," Whitney said, since that money will come from the general fund.

Voting against Warner's amendment were Sens. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, Lester Harsh of McCook, W. H. Hasebrook of West Point, Thomas Kennedy of Newman Grove, Rudolf Kokes of Ord, Herb Nore of Genoa, Stull, J. James Waldron of Callaway, Elmer Waldrey of Emerson, Whitney and Wylie.

Clean Meat Bill Revival Predicted

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann predicted Friday the Legislature will revive a Nebraska "clean meat" bill.

Earlier this week, the Unicameral killed proposed state inspection legislation, electing to leave all meat inspection within the state up to the federal government.

"It was not responsible action," Tiemann told a news conference. "Some senators are now having second thoughts and I think the bill will be revived."

Unless Nebraska enacts some kind of inspection law, the only alternative "would be for small plants to lock up" because the federal government doesn't have sufficient inspectors.

"I wouldn't want to be a party to ordering 200 small plants in the state to close," he said.

90% Federally Inspected

Ninety per cent of Nebraska's meat is now federally inspected, but small plants shipping only within the state do not come under federal regulations.

Tiemann noted every other state has enacted cooperative legislation with the federal program.

An another subject, Tiemann said the State Board of Equalization would make an effort to equalize property valuations between the 93 counties.

"It's almost an impossible task," he said, "but identical classes of land should carry the same valuation between counties."

Regional Hearings

Tax Commissioner Murrell McNeil has notified 92 counties of proposed valuation increases, and is currently conducting regional hearings.

Tiemann said the state board "will probably make adjustments in the figures that the tax commissioner has proposed."

For the past two years, the state board has declined to change valuations reported by the counties, saying it lacked sufficient evidence.

The governor also reported his office is working to remove the salary limitations on state agencies imposed by the mainline 1969-71 budget appropriations bill.

Problems Foreseen

The pay hikes given the Legislature's fiscal analyst staff by its executive board "is going to cause problems among other state employees," he said.

State agencies have been held to a five per cent annual increase in salaries in LB1421, but the Legislature's executive board approved pay increases up to 16% for the fiscal staff.

Tiemann also reported his office will seek legislation writing the common law provisions for protection of persons and property into statutes to replace the "self-defense" bill (LB925) enacted over his veto.

Other news conference highlights:

—Tiemann, recently named a vice chairman of a presidential study committee on postal reforms, favors the "public corporation" approach to putting the Post Office Department on a self-sustaining basis.

—The governor will spend next Monday and Tuesday with Nebraska National Guard units undergoing summer training at Camp Ripley in Minnesota before going to Camp Kennedy for the Apollo 11 moon-shot.

—Tiemann said the proposed 1½-cent increase in state gas taxes to nine cents is a "proper approach so far" toward funding state highway needs from user funds.

Guardsmen And Inmates Fix Up Camp For Youths

Gov. Norbert Tiemann reported Friday that volunteer National Guardsmen and Penitentiary inmates have refurbished Camp Sheldon near Columbus to save a summer camp program which will accommodate Omaha youngsters.

The program, sponsored by the Omaha Near North Side Police Community Relations Office and the YMCA, was in danger of being scrapped for lack of a site.

But the guardsmen and inmates put the camp in proper shape with "mostly elbow grease" to sustain the programs which will accommodate about 500 youths this summer, Tiemann said.

"It exemplifies what can be done if everybody cooperates," the governor said.

Group Proposed To Help Prepare State Water Plan

A resolution was introduced in the Legislature Friday calling for an interim legislative committee to work as a liaison group with the State Soil and Water Conservation Commission in the preparation of the state water plan.

Resolution No. 72, introduced principally by Sen. Maurice Kremer of Aurora, was laid over under legislative rules.

The resolution proposes five duties for the interim committee, including the study of the planning program and construction progress in the small watershed program.

A framework state water plan is scheduled to be presented to the 1971 Legislature.

Private School Aid Proposal OK'd

By Associated Press

Nebraska's Legislature Friday ordered a vote of the state's citizens next year on a constitutional amendment which would permit a form of state financial aid to parochial schools.

Passed on a 41-2 vote on final reading was the bill permitting such departure from precedent, LB1083, sponsored chiefly by Sen. Eugene T. Mahoney of Omaha.

The proposed constitutional amendment would authorize the Legislature to "make grants for the benefit of students enrolled in nonpublic schools as reimbursement for the part of their tuition that is allocated to instruction in state-approved courses."

Such reimbursement, however, shall not exceed one-third of the per student cost in the public school district in which the student resides, "nor shall any plan of reimbursement breach the separation of church and state required by the First Amendment to the Constitution of the United States."

Only Sens. Ellen Craft of North Platte and Theodore C. Wenzlaff of Sutton voted against LB1083. Absent or not voting were Sens. Clifton Batchelder, Sam Klaver and Henry F. Pedersen Jr. of Omaha; Fred Carstens of Beatrice, John E. Knight of Lincoln and Willard Waldo of DeWitt.

During earlier floor debate, several senators said that although they might not personally support the amendment, they thought the issue was one the people should decide.

The lawmakers, in fact, adopted on a 28-1 vote last month a resolution declaring that passage of LB1083 "shall not constitute approval or disapproval of the principle of state aid to private education."

Sen. Richard Proud of Omaha sponsored the resolution and 25 senators joined him as co-sponsors. Only Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha voted against the resolution.

The proposed amendment is the 13th which the Legislature so far has decided to submit to voters in the November general election in 1970.

Co-sponsors with Sen. Mahoney of LB1083 were Sens. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, Jerome Warner of Waverly, Bill K. Bloom and William R. Skarda Jr. of Omaha.

to the single cent hike recommended by the highway study committee would raise about $5.3 million this biennium. The increase would not take effect until Jan. 1, 1970.

The highway cash fund would be short some $5.4 million (after gas tax refunds) if his motor vehicle sales tax proposal had not been accepted, Warner said.

Pentagon Admits Gas Testing

The New York Times

Washington — The Pentagon disclosed Friday that it was conducting open-air tests of nerve gas and other deadly chemicals at three sites in the United States.

The information, given to a House subcommittee, showed that tests have been conducted and still others are being planned at Dugway proving ground, Utah; Edgewood Arsenal, Md.; and Fort McClellan, Ala.

It was the first time that the Pentagon had admitted that open-air tests have been conducted at locations outside of Dugway. About 6,000 sheep were accidentally killed near there last year during testing of VX nerve gas.

McClellan's Insignificant

The Army documents indicated that the tests at Fort McClellan were relatively insignificant, with mustard gas and nerve gas poured on a surface for troop training in detection and decontamination.

However, the Army data showed extensive open-air testing at Edgewood arsenal, about 25 miles north of Baltimore.

The information was made available by Army Secretary Stanley R. Resor under prodding by a House Government Operations subcommittee that conducted two days of hearings in May into the possible dangers of open-air testing of poison gases.

67 Weapons Tested

The documents show that the Army conducted open-air tests on 67 different gas weapons at Dugway and 47 at Fort McClellan between April and June of this year.

The Army further reported that 239 gas weapons were tested or will be tested Edgewood during the period between April and October of this year; and that 358 devices will be tested at Dugway during the next three months.

The Army said the gases, including mustard gas — ranging in amount from a few grams to 15 pounds — are packed in a variety of devices such as bomblets, mortars, landmines, rockets and artillery shells.

The House subcommittee headed by Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wisc., had been highly critical of what terms the Army's attempt to hide the fact that open-air tests had killed 6,000 sheep in Utah in March, 1968.

Negro Official Resigns Nixon Minority Post

Washington (AP) — The director of the Small Business Administration's minority enterprise program resigned Friday and denounced the Nixon administration's handling of black capitalism.

"It's enough to make you want to cry," said Philip Pruitt in an interview shortly before telling staff aides of his resignation. "I'm tired, tired of fighting."

Pruitt, a Negro, stepped down as assistant administrator — a post he has held for four months — in a letter to SBA Administrator Hillary Sandoval Jr. Pruitt, 32, said he plans to return to Wall Street, where he had been an investment banker.

He denied that Nixon administration handling of voting rights and school desegregation was a factor in his decision but said: "That bothers every black person in the United States."

Pruitt said his main concern was with his attempts to operate the minority enterprise program. "They haven't given the administrator (Sandoval) a chance. They guy is really genuine. They just beat us down."

"The President should be committed to black capitalism and minority enterprise and I think he is but I think that someone's telling him the wrong things" Pruitt said softly as he slumped in a chair, seemingly exhausted.

Pruitt said he is leaving despite administration efforts to persuade him to stay in government in another role — possibly on the White House staff.

Sandoval in a statement issued later Friday, said he accepted Pruitt's resignation with sincere regret.

Journalism Teachers Attend NU Workshop

Nineteen high school journalism teachers are combining practice with theory to improve their instructional techniques at the University of Nebraska Journalism Teachers Workshop.

Those attending are writing news stories, reviewing, receiving ideas to match their programs, and developing a suggested course for high school journalism, according to Dr. Thomas E. "Gene" Harding, assistant professor of journalism and secondary education.

Fifteen Nebraskans are among the participants who were selected from 100 applicants. Among those attending, 15 are receiving grants from the Newspaper

Fund Fellowship provided by the Wall Street Journal.

Among Nebraskans participating are:

Miss Ruth A. Wagner of Norfolk, Mrs. Marjorie Adamson of Nelson, Mrs. Sharon L. Keiser of Fremont, Sister Cecilia Polt of Norfolk, Mrs. Peg Tuomisto of Omaha, Mrs. Hope A. Rees of McCook, Mrs. Charlene L. Kremke of Papillion, Mrs. Beth Snyder Bohling of Superior, Mrs. Jim Seacrest of North Platte, Mrs. Jane Ramsey of Scottsbluff, Ed Bervin of Lincoln, Mrs. Jewell Buoy of Ord, and Miss March Tinkham of Holmesville.

Instructors for the program are Dr. Harding, Jim Davis, James Morrison, and Jim Dean, all of the School of Journalism school faculty. Bob Taylor of KOLN-TV in Lincoln, Mrs. Jennifer Johnson of East High and Larry Fauss of Southeast in Lincoln, and Dr. John Upright of the University Extension Division.

State To Survey Sources Of Pollution In Carter Lake

State Sanitation Engineer T. A. Filipi reported Friday his environmental health services division plans to make a survey to determine sources of pollution in Carter Lake.

Filipi told the Nebraska Water Pollution Control Council that he has sought Iowa's help in the project since Carter Lake, near Omaha, is bisected by the state line between Nebraska and Iowa, but hasn't received a response.

The input of polluted water may be attributed to the dumping of sewage from nearby homes and of drainage water from Epley Airfield into the lake, Filipi said.

There is a sewer system available, but "we know many homes are sending raw sewage into Carter Lake," he said.

The probe likely will include running dye through toilets in individual homes to find which are pollution sources, Filipi said.

The council approved tentatively allocation of $1.3 million in federal funds for Omaha's Papio Creek sewage treatment project.

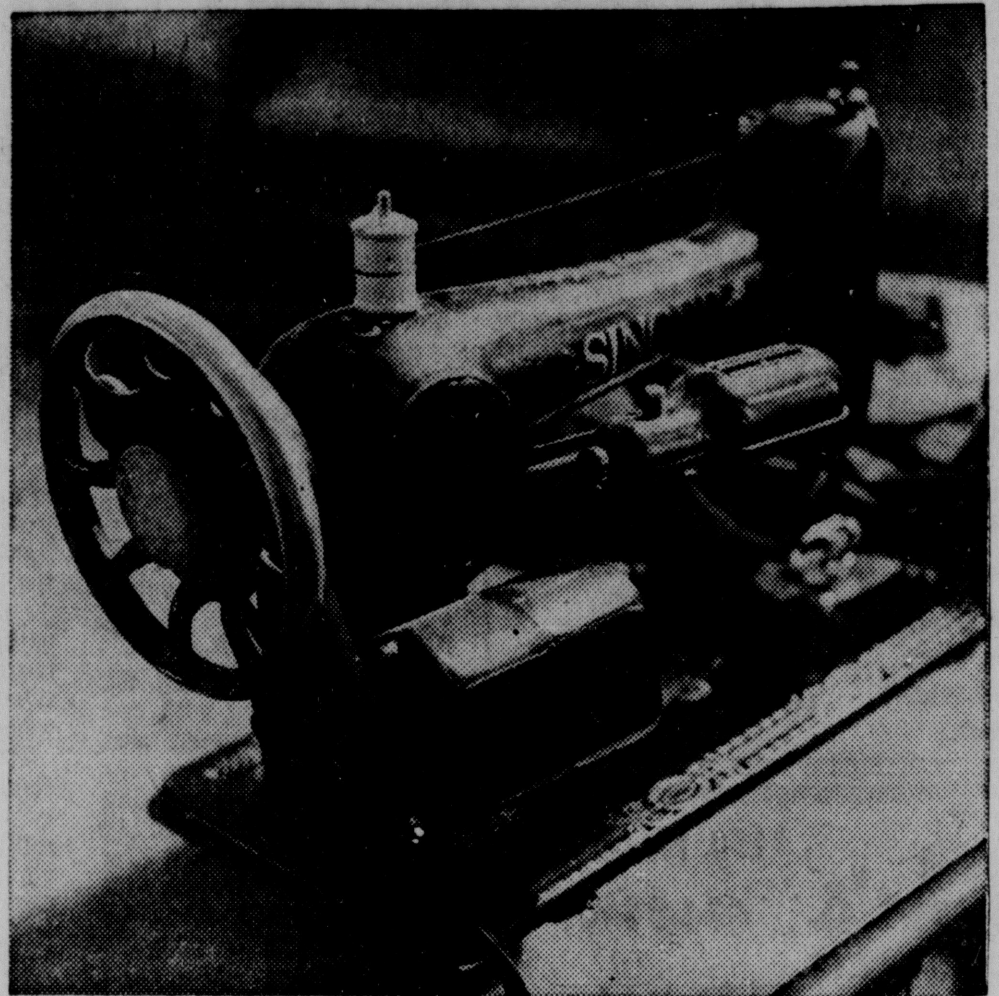

The use of the funds will depend on Omaha's progress with the project, which Filipi said is five years behind schedule.

The main problem is lack of local funds to qualify for federal funds, and city officials are reluctant to ask voters to authorize more bonds, Filipi said.

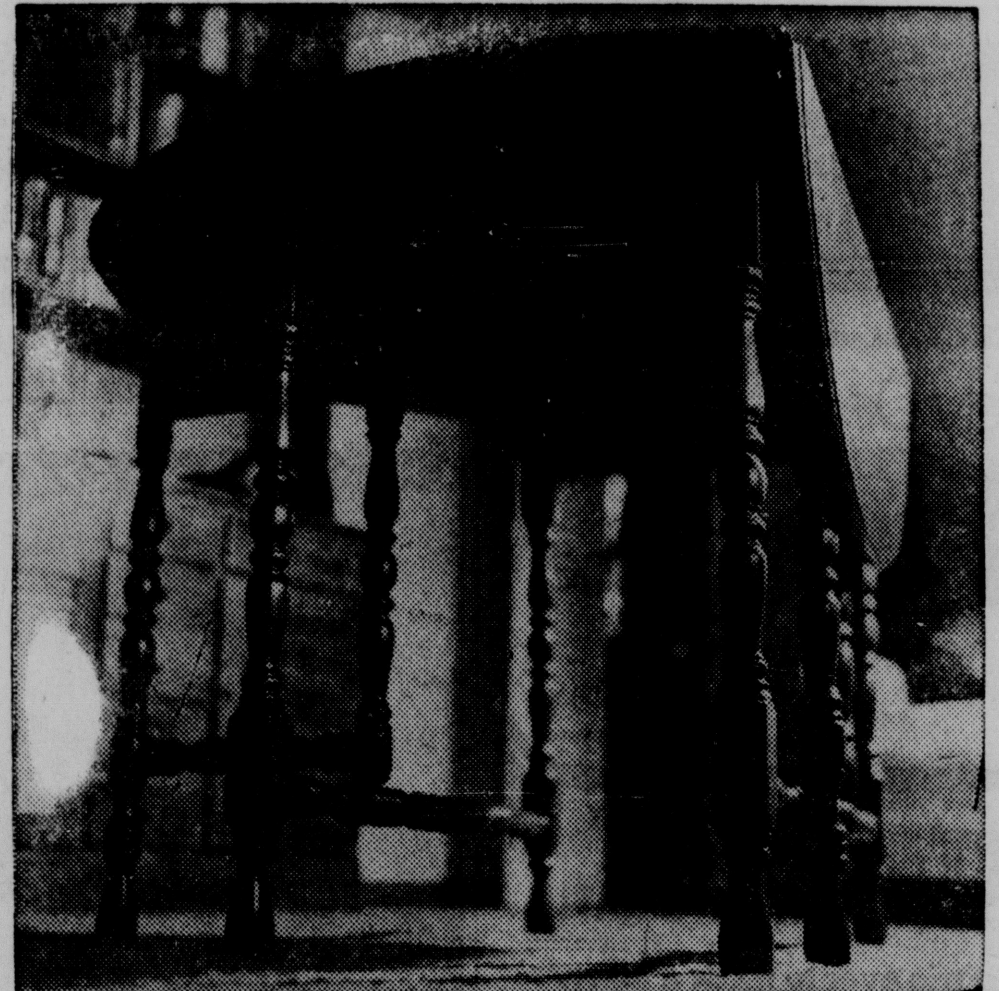

If Omaha fails to acquire the local funds needed, Filipi said, the $1.3 million could be distributed to other municipalities with planned treatment projects.

Kathy Watts, Bride At Friday Wedding Wedding Planned

Jerry Todd, Timothy Spooneman and Terry Remigio. Seating the guests were Tom French and Vaughn Brown, Ft. Collins, Benjamin Robertson and Tim Doyle.

The bride's gown of white silk organza and peau de'ange lace in antique white was designed in the skimmer silhouette. The lace formed the high throatline and continued over the shoulders into brief, scalloped sleeves, and floral appliques of the lace patterned the slim skirt and the cathedral-length train. A bandeau of the lace held her bouffant illusion veil, and she carried a cascade of daisies centered with a white orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. Todd will make their home in Ft. Collins, where both are students at Colorado State University.

TOWN TALK

These are busy days for Miss Nancy Tinstman, whose marriage to Rocky Craig White will be solemnized on Saturday, Aug. 30. In addition to numerous recent parties for the soon-to-be bride, the calendar reveals that there are many more to come.

Week after next for instance, Miss Tinstman will be the incentive for two courtesies — One of these will be on Wednesday, July 23, when Mrs. William T. Edwards and Mrs. Thurston Phelps are hostesses at a luncheon and a kitchen shower at the home of Mrs. Phelps.

On Friday evening, July 25, Miss Tinstman and Mr. White will share courtesy honors when Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Druliner are host and hostess. The party is to be a canape and supper affair at the Lincoln Country Club.

We spoke of vacationers — and we had in mind Mrs. W. H. Ferguson who left on Wednesday for her summer home at Madeline Island.

And we heard that Mrs. Marshall Neely is doing a bit of relaxing at her summer home at Shell Lake, Wis.

On the homecomer's list is Mrs. F. B. Baylor who has just returned from a four months stay in Chicago where her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Baylor and their family reside.

At the moment Mrs. Baylor is at the Clayton House.

Announcing plans for a late summer wedding is Miss Dona Marguerite Freiss of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Freiss of Hebron, who has chosen Saturday, Aug. 30, for her marriage to Charles W. Rickel.

The wedding will take place at a 4 o'clock afternoon service, to be solemnized at St. Mary's Church in Lincoln.

The bride-to-be who is careering in Lincoln, will be presented a miscellaneous shower on Sunday afternoon, July 27, when she will be honored at a party for which Mrs. Fred Oeltjen will be hostess at her home. Co-hostess for the courtesy will be Mrs. Roger Bruning.

Also entertaining for Miss Freiss will be Miss Pauline Smith and Mrs. Robert Bauer who will be hostesses at a linen shower to be held Sunday evening, Aug. 3, at the home of Mrs. Bauer.

The wedding of Miss Diane Runyan and John R. Knox, whose betrothal was revealed last spring, will take place on Friday, July 25. The bride-elect, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean R. Paap, has announced that the ceremony will be solemnized at 7:30 o'clock in the evening, at Vine Congregational Church.

Honoring Miss Runyan at a bridal courtesy recently were Mrs. Barbara Dunekacke and Mrs. Dean Rivers who were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower Sunday afternoon, June 22. The party was held at the home of Mrs. Dunekacke.

It's A 'Generations' Gap

We've never made a survey so we really have nothing specific to offer in the way of statistics. We suspect, however, that there aren't too many young ladies who can learn about their family tree almost from its very roots.

In this case the source of family information is Mrs. M. Olive Watson who will reach the 100 mark when she celebrates her next birthday. Her eager listeners are her two great-granddaughters, Joni-Jo and Debbie Boman, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Boman of Indianapolis, Ind., who are visiting their paternal grandmother, Mrs. Eric Boman.

You already know that the girls' mother is the former Jeanne Branch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Branch of Scottsdale, Ariz., formerly of Lincoln and Kappa Alpha Theta at Nebraska.

ABBY: invite them all

DEAR ABBY: Our son just came home from Vietnam and announced his engagement to a girl he went with before he went away. She comes from high society people.

Her mother asked me for a list of people on our side we wanted invited to the wedding. My problem is we have a lot of relatives we never see except at weddings and funerals and some of them wouldn't fit in very well with such high-class folks. Also, this is going to be a dress-up type church wedding, and I hate to put some of them on the spot to spend all that money getting dressed up just for that one day.

Is there some way I can invite those who can afford it and will fit in, and leave the others out? I hate to hurt any feelings.

SAN ANTONIO
DEAR SAN: Invite them all, and those who want to come will find a way to cut the mustard. Everyone has some relatives who won't "fit in." But don't worry, there will be plenty on the other side who won't fit in either, and they'll fit nicely with your misfits.

DEAR ABBY: I am 11 years old and I am ashamed of my mother. She tells the biggest lies, and she gossips a lot on the telephone. She will talk to one lady and pretend to be her best friend, when she is really her worst enemy. How can a person be so two-faced and evil and then tell me if I tell a lie God will punish me?

CHARLOTTE, N.C.
DEAR CHARLOTTE: Do as your mother SAYS, not as she does. Honey. Perhaps your mother will read this and realize that while "example" is not the only teacher, it is one of the most powerful.

Shower Honors August Bride-To-Be

The guest of honor at a bridal shower on Thursday evening was Miss Beverly Janssen, who was presented a personal shower at a party for which Miss Carol Hutsell and Miss Linda Cummings were hostesses at their home.

Co-hostesses for the informal evening were Mrs. Jerry Fisher and Mrs. Charles Fisher.

Blankenbiller, the bride-to-be, Miss Nancy Shockey and Miss Karen Windhorst. Standing (left to right) are Miss Sandy Ifland, Miss Cummings, Mrs. Alan Friesen and Miss Hutsell. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Janssen of Rushville, the bride-elect is careering in Lincoln, where her fiancé, Ronald Fisher, also of Rushville, is attending the University of Nebraska. Their wedding will take place Saturday, Aug. 30, at Rushville.

Suburbia Goes Vacationing

Among all of the vacation spots in the United States which are frequented by Nebraska residents during the summer months, the state of California seems to be one of the most popular. It's quite apparent that many Midwest-dwellers choose "California Here I Come" as their theme song during the vacation season, and we have a feeling that a number of people right here in Lincoln were among the west coast fans who breathed a collective sigh of relief when California didn't sink into the ocean as had been predicted earlier this spring. After all, just as the recently-popular song queried in jesting response to the aforementioned prophesy, "Where will we go when there is no San Diego?"

Returning last Monday from a vacation in the Golden State were Bethany Park Heights residents Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Mathis and daughters, Shelley and Linda. During their travels, which began on Saturday, June 21, the Mathis family enjoyed sightseeing at such points of interest as Universal City, Knotts Berry Farm and, of course, Disneyland. They also had a visit with former Lincoln residents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dale who now make their home in Diamond Bar, Calif., a suburb of Los Angeles.

Then it was on to Texas where they were the week-long guests of Mr. Mathis' brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Mathis and family in Alpine.

Also joining the ranks of west coast "voyageurs" were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Colburn and sons Scott and Craig, of Fiene Heights. The Colburn family, accompanied by Mrs. Colburn's mother, Mrs. L. B. Davison of Basset, left Lincoln on Sunday, June 15 for a combined business and pleasure trip. The "business" portion of their travels took place in Sacramento where Mr. Colburn attended several days of meetings; and other stops included San Francisco, San Diego and Long Beach. They also included some sightseeing in Mexico on their itinerary.

Committee To Study Two Cities' Airports

Omaha (AP) — Members will be named within 10 days to a new committee to study the potentials of Eppley Airfield and the Lincoln Municipal Airport, Gov. Norbert Tiemann said Friday.

"This will not be just another study committee," Tiemann told persons attending a special airport meeting here. "It will be expected to work hard. Its efforts will be vital to the economy of the entire state."

Tiemann called the meeting of members of the Lincoln and Omaha Airport Authorities and representatives of the State Aeronautics Commission, State Planning Department and Federal Aviation Administration in response to an FAA report.

By Mid-1980s

The report released by the FAA's Kansas City regional office said Omaha might need a new commercial airport as early as the mid-1980s. Spokesmen for the Omaha and Lincoln authorities contended master plans provide for continued use of the two airports for 30 years or more.

Chauncey E. Barney, Lincoln authority counsel, and Chairman James B. Moore of the Omaha authority joined in calling for a careful, detailed study of the air traffic capabilities of the two airports.

"I think if we had $100 million stashed in the bank, no responsible person would consider building any new facilities at this time," Barney said. "We would not want to irresponsibly walk away from the present facilities."

Long-Range

Barney emphasized that airport talk was "real long-range planning" and said fixing the idea of a new airport in the public mind "could be disastrous to both communities."

Moore suggested that the proposed committee examine current and future needs and best possible ways to meet the needs.

He proposed an examination of differences between the FAA projection and a projection by professional consultants that Eppley will not reach its capacity "until the year 2000 or later."

No Effect

Tiemann said the study would not effect either existing airport or the prospective issuance of revenue bonds in the future.

Moore estimated Eppley's replacement value at $65 million with plans underway to invest an additional $60-$70 million.

Barney said a three-stage development program for the Lincoln airport, now in preparation, includes a passenger terminal project that will call for a bond issue of something like $5 million in the near future.

Meat Packing Plant Closes

The large Swift & Co. meat packing plant in Omaha closed this week, 82 years old and hopelessly outmoded. The plant once employed 1,600 persons, and its closing will leave between 600 and 700 persons out of work. In the shadow of the Swift plant are the ruins of the once bustling Armour & Co. plant, shut down a few years ago.

Record Highway Lineage Paved

State Engineer Marvin Nuernberger reported Friday the Missouri Valley Construction Company set a new record for Interstate Highway paving laid in a single day.

Nuernberger said the construction firm laid 8,068 linear feet of reinforced, 24-foot wide concrete paving Thursday on the Interstate 80 stretch between Big Springs and Chappell.

Material required for the feat was 4,781 cubic yards of concrete, 90,000 pounds of reinforcing steel mesh and 26,296 bags of cement, he said.

A Peace Corps placement test will be given to Lincoln area residents at 1:30 p.m. July 19 in Room 415 of the Main Post Office Bldg.

Day Care Center Set To Open Next Month

Family Service Association's day care center for children in ADC families and others is expected to be operating at Trinity Methodist Church about Aug. 1, it was announced Friday.

Delays of more than a month in getting approval for alterations to meet state fire code requirements cost the project some $15,000 in federal funds, however.

The center was originally scheduled to open June 15.

Family Service Director George Kailley reported that as of July 1, the funding ratio for the Health, Education and Welfare Department grant of $65,000 changed from 85% federal money, 15% local matching money to 75%-25%.

The federal funds, which would be used to purchase day care services for children in families that receive Aid to Dependent Children, will be cut to about $50,000, according to Kailley.

Church officials agreed to pay for the installation of three fire doors in the building that were required under day care fire code restrictions, Kailley reported.

With the approval of the planned revisions, Family Service will move ahead with hiring a day care center director and recruiting teachers and children, he said.

A $15,000 grant from the Woods Foundation and other "in kind" contributions will comprise the local matching funds for the project.

The cut in federal funds is not expected to affect the number of children that can be handled by the center because additional U.S. Department of Agriculture funds may be available to pay for some of the food costs.

The project was written for 60 pre-schoolers, with at least two-thirds of them from ADC families. Families of the other children will pay, on a sliding scale, the full daily cost for care or less.

West O Group May Alter Name

A name change for the West O Businessmen and Civic Association was suggested by one of its members at a meeting Friday.

Ed Copple suggested that the group be known as the West Side Businessmen and Civic Association.

During the meeting, members of the Optimist Club of Lincoln urged the group to start an Optimist Club in the area.

Man Held In Lincoln Robbery Flees From California Jail

Lincoln police said Friday that one of two men arrested recently in California in connection with an armed robbery of a Lincoln store escaped Thursday from a county jail in Concord, Calif.

William F. Crouch, 38, was being held on a warrant charging him with the robbery of a Safeway Store at Cother and A Sts. in Lincoln.

Inspector Robert Sawdon of the Lincoln Police Department said exact details of the escape were unknown, although he said he had been informed that Crouch had escaped from Contra Costa County Hospital, where he was admitted following a feigned illness.

The fugitive faces charges of armed robbery and parole violation in California in addition to the Nebraska charges, Sawdon said.

A former Lincoln resident, Crouch may return to this area, Sawdon said, and should be considered dangerous.

Crouch was described as five-foot, eight-inches tall with brown hair and eyes.

Twelve pages of wholesome colored comics, feature stories with plenty of pictures and the big entertainment section are a few reasons why nearly every one reads the "Sunday Journal and Star."

Four First-Time Starters In Nationals' Lineup

New York (AP) — Willie McCovey, Hank Aaron, Ron Santo and Don Kessinger are the repeaters in the National League All-Star line-up announced Friday that also included Johnny Bench, Felix Millan, Matty Alou and Cleon Jones as first-time starters.

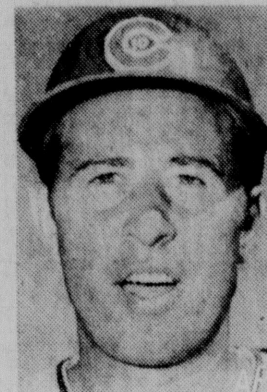

McCovey, the San Francisco Giants' homer-hitting first baseman, was the top vote getter in the poll of players, coaches and managers for the team to face the American League July 22 at Washington.

McCovey had 296 votes and Aaron, the Atlanta Braves' right fielder who was named for the 15th time, received 295 votes.

The voting competition was hottest at second and third base. Millan of the Atlanta Braves beat out Glenn Beckert of Chicago for second base, 137-110 and Santo of the Cubs held off the challenge of Cincinnati's Tony Perez for third base, 196-151. Players were not permitted to vote for their own teammates.

Pitchers and the remainder of the 28-man squad will be named by manager Red Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals and announced later.

The American League starters, to be managed by Mayo Smith of the Detroit Tigers, were announced Thursday. The eight starters

RON SANTO

DON KESSINGER

HANK AARON

WILLIE MCCOVEY

were catcher Bill Freehan of Detroit, first baseman Boog Powell of Baltimore, second baseman Rod Carew of Minnesota, third baseman Sal Bando of Oakland, shortstop Rico Petrocelli of Boston and outfielders Frank Robinson of Baltimore, Reggie Jackson of Oakland and Fran Howard of Washington. Among the missing in the National ranks were such as Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh, a four-time batting champion; Pete Rose of Cincinnati, the 1968 batting champ and Jerry Grote of New York, the starting catcher last year who did not get a single vote this time.

Willie Mays, who holds many All-Star records and won last year's 1-0 game in Houston, was sixth among the outfielders but could be named to the squad by manager Schoendienst.

Bench was an easy winner for the catching job. The Cincinnati star piled up a 261-76 margin over Randy Hundley of Chicago. McCovey breezed at first base, 296-33 over Cincinnati's Lee May, his closest competitor. Kessinger, second Cub to make the team, had a 228-103 margin over Denis Menke of Houston for shortstop although Menke also got 19 votes as a second baseman.

Aaron led the three outfielders with 295. Alou of Pittsburgh, who has more hits than any other player, drew 232 votes and Jones of the New York Mets, the batting leader, was third with 152. The next closest was Clemente with 56.

The American League starters hold a wide edge in homers with both Jackson and Howard challenging Roger Maris' record pace but the National has won the last six All-Star games and holds a 21-17 edge in the series.

Little Fry Head For Puerto Rico

Governor Tiemann gave Lincoln's Little Fry basketball team a fond farewell Thursday when he commissioned the entire squad admirals in the Nebraska Navy.

The team, which won a national title in a single elimination tourney in Chicago by defeating New York met with the Governor eight days before leaving on their 10-day trip to San Juan, Puerto Rico, to play in the World Little Fry Basketball Tournament.

The tourney itself will begin the 22nd and end the 27th, with a possible 16 teams competing in double elimination play. Eight teams have been invited from the United States.

Not all 16 teams invited may be able to make the tourney, however, due to financial problems. Each team is responsible for getting back and forth to the tourney. Once there, the Puerto Rican government and the YMCA jointly sponsor the tourney.

Randy Streeton, coordinator of the trip for the Salvation Army-sponsored Little Fries, pointed out that it required roughly $2,500 for the team to make the sojourn. The players made $2,000 of that by themselves, selling candy from door-to-door. $500 more was added through donations.

The team itself, coached by Frank Sheridan and Tim Gillespie, is made up of a handpicked all-star team from the eight team Little Fry league sponsored by the Salvation Army. The teams play 14 conference games during the season and then have a tournament at the end of the campaign. 120 boys participate in the program with each squad consisting of 15 players.

Little Fry rules also vary slightly from the norm. The baskets are 8½ feet high rather than the normal ten, all players must be 5-2 or under and must play at least one six minute quarter, and the ball is only 28 inches in diameter instead of 30 inches.

The team is led by Rick Cole, who was voted the most valuable player in the tourney in Chicago, and Greg Smith, who, like Cole, made the tourney's all-star squad.

JACKLIN NEW GOLF LEADER

Holds 2-Stroke Margin On O'Connor, Charles

... NINE AMERICANS MAKE FINALS

WIN FOR ECOFFEY... Fred Ecoffey steers W. L. Sawyer across the finish line to win the second race Friday.

Lythamp - St. Annes, England — Tony Jacklin, the 25-year-old Englishman now at home on the United States circuit, took a two-stroke lead Friday over Irishman Christy O'Connor and New Zealander Bob Charles after three rounds of the 1969 British Open Golf championship.

A total of 46 players, including nine Americans, made the cut at 222 for 54 holes over the Royal Lytham and St. Annes links beside the Irish Sea, where par is 35-36-71.

Jacklin shot a one-under par 70 Friday and wound up with a five-under-par total for three rounds of 68-70-70-208. O'Connor had a 71-65-74-210 and Charles, left-handed winner of the crown on this same course in 1963, carded 71-65-74-210.

Roberto De Vicenzo, the 46-year-old Argentine, shot a sparkling 66 — only one off the record set by O'Connor Thursday — and together with five-time winner Peter Thomson of Australia was only three shots behind Jacklin. Thomson had a 70 for his third round.

Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, pulled his game together with a 68 for a three-round total of 213. Brian Huggett of England has the same mark.

After his round Nicklaus said "Once I won the Western Open after going into the final round eight shots off the pace. So nobody knows what could happen Saturday. This course, too, is one that can be kind to you one day with the bounces and very unkind another day."

Nicklaus had two birdies going out, sank a 20-footer at the 10th for a birdie, and a 15-footer at the 11th for another.

Still another birdie came at the 13th where he sank one from 12 feet and if his putter stays hot he still could make a charge in Saturday's final round.

The last Briton to win this crown — first competed for 109 years ago — was Max Faulkner in 1951.

A gallery of 15,000 swarmed over the links on a changeable day. One minute it was overcast and windy and the next sunny and calm.

Jacklin, now attached to the Sea Island Country Club of Brunswick, Ga., went out in 34 — one under par — and came home in 36.

"I was in the bunkers four times and got some sand in my eye," Jacklin said. "But I came out well at most of them."

"Playing in the U.S. has made a big difference to my game. You've got to be tough to play in the States."

Mark Spitz Ties Butterfly Record

Santa Clara, Calif. (AP) — Mark Spitz tied his own world record of 55.6 seconds in the 100-meter butterfly Friday in the third annual Santa Clara International Invitational Swim Meet.

Spitz, 19, of the Santa Clara Swim Club, won four medals in the Mexico City Olympics last year and now attends the Indiana University.

... MARVIN COLEMAN WINS TWO AT FAIRGROUNDS FRIDAY

By KENT SAVERY
Star Sports Writer

Champagne Kid, the five-year-old gelding owned by Oklahoma Fred Underwood, captured the featured $1,500 Sportswriters Purse at the State Fairgrounds Friday.

Ridden by William Stallings, Champagne Kid made his move coming into the stretch, overhauling Moonlander and Fifth Ray, then holding off Binny to win by two lengths in the 5½-furlong sprint test for four-year-olds and up.

Champagne Kid, who prefers route races to the shorties, was nevertheless rated 4-5 by bettors and returned only $3.80, $2.80 and $2.40.

The son of Stella Aurata out of Puffball by Bimelech toured the 5½ furlongs in 1:08 on a track rated as "good."

Binny, under Dave King, paid $3.60 and $2.60, while Fifth Ray held on for the show and returned $3.00.

It was the first Lincoln start for Champagne Kid, who also won a sprint race in his first Ak-Sar-Ben appearance May 8 but had not won since.

However, it was Champagne Kid's fourth win in 15 starts this season and boosted his 1969 winnings over the $16,000 mark.

Last year Champagne Kid started 19 times for his 67-year-old Chickasha, Okla., owner-trainer and scored his only two wins of the season at Lincoln.

Rather lightly regarded by bettors in the past, Champagne Kid was the odds-on favorite Friday after running well this season in Ak-Sar-Ben allowance competition.

Two other horses which had been longest Lincoln winners in the past, Mrs. Jack and Larry's Redbird, again surprised bettors by winning the third and fifth races, respectively.

Mrs. Jack went wire to wire under Gary Birzer and returned $20.80, $10.40 and $5.40. Irish Leaf took the place and Soapy The Boy showed while 7-5 favorite Pink Lustre ran out of the money.

Larry's Redbird romped to a 15-length victory over even-odds favorite Dusky Rag in the fifth and returned $19.20, $6 and $3.60.

Larry's Redbird gave jockey Marvin Coleman his second straight easy win after he breezed to victory atop Chicken Irving in the fourth race.

M. H. Stone's Lucky Skip and Bart Ford's W. L. Sawyer took the first and second races to produce a $63.40 daily double on numbers 6 and 1.

Cubs Get Home Field Next Week Against NY

By Associated Press

The call for revenge rang out just minutes after the final out.

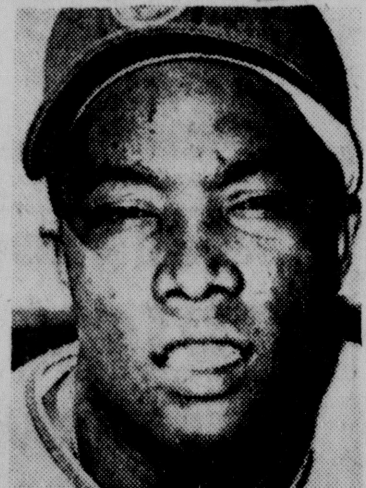

"Just wait until they get into our ball park with our fans," a Cub player shouted out in the dressing room after Chicago had stopped New York, 6-2, Thursday to salvage one game in the three-game series with the Mets.

It won't be long until they meet face to face again. The Mets opened a four-game series with Montreal in New York Friday night, while the Cubs returned home where they lost the first game of a three-game set with Philadelphia, 7-5, Friday afternoon.

But, after that interruption, the Cubs and Mets meet again Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in the battle of the former winless wonders for first in the National League East.

In other games Friday, Boston whipped Baltimore twice, 7-4 and 12-3; Cleveland blasted Detroit, 8-1; Minnesota bombed Seattle, 9-3; Kansas City stopped the Chicago White Sox, 8-5; the New York Yankees shaded Washington, 4-3; St. Louis collected a 6-1 win over Pittsburgh; Houston socked Cincinnati, 13-2.

Late Pacific Coast games and Oakland blanked California 3-0. Atlanta at San Diego and San Francisco at Los Angeles.

TONY TAYLOR

Homers by Johnny Briggs and Ron Stone and a run-scoring single by Tony Taylor in the ninth inning gave Philadelphia its victory over the Cubs Friday, still leaving four games separating them from the second-place Mets, who were trounced by Montreal Friday night, 11-4.

The Cubs had taken a 5-3 lead with a pair of runs in the eighth, but the Phillies came right back.

Briggs greeted reliever Hank Aguirre with his eighth homer of the season and second of the game and then, with one out, Stone homered off Ted Abernathy to tie the game.

Mike Ryan, pinch-hitter Dave Watkins and Taylor followed with singles to put Philadelphia ahead. After Cookie Rojas fouled out, Larry Hisle laid down a squeeze bunt single to score Watkins with an insurance run.

With two one and one out in the Chicago eighth, Paul Popovich delivered a pinch single off reliever and winner John Boozer, 1-0, to give Chicago a 4-3 lead. Glenn Beckert's two-out single made it 5-3.

The Cubs had tied the game with a run in the seventh when Ron Santo singled in Kessinger.

Philadelphia scored in the fifth on starting pitcher Bill Champion's RBI single, and got two in the seventh on Briggs' homer and Deron Johnson's pinch single which drove in Stone.

Both the New York and Chicago managers said they planned to use the same pitching rotation that produced fireworks at Shea Stadium this week. The Mets will use Jerry Koosman, Tom Seaver and Gary Gentry while the Cubs will counter with Ferguson Jenkins, Ken Holtzman and Bill Hands.

Jenkins stopped New York on one hit for eight innings before the Mets exploded with three runs in the ninth inning to win the first game of the set.

Seaver had a perfect game for 8 1-3 innings in New York's 4-0 victory in the second game, while Hands hurled a three-hitter in the Cubs' lone triumph.

Priscilla Saved From Drinking

It's sure nice to have Champagne Kid back at the Fairgrounds this year.

Last season he was one of my best winners and Friday

he came through for me again.

I'm afraid if he hadn't won I might have taken to drinking. And that's not hard to do what with the scarcity of lemonade this year.

Too bad Champagne Kid has so many followers now. He paid only $3.80 for winning the seventh. My other win choice, Say-Peanuts in the second race, ran out of the money so I still ended up losing $2.00.

With my $100 spree fund down to $95.80 I think I'll try $2 win tickets on Thunder Prince in the sixth and Mighty Classy in the eighth.

... 18-YEAR DRIVER PILOTS NO. 96 AT EAGLE

Grandpa Lahodny retire? Never!

"I'll retire from my job before I'll think about retiring from the track," Leon Lahodny said. The driver of car No. 96 at the Eagle Raceway believes he is the oldest driver this year.

At 45, and a V-belt builder, he scoffs at the idea that driving is strictly a young man's sport. Both at work where his wife and two daughters also work and at the track he's earned the respected "Grandpa" title. He has two grandchildren and also has a daughter in the Marine Corps.

"Driving gets into your blood," he said. Now in his 18th year of driving as a hobby, he has never had a serious accident. He recalls several good spills, however, like the time several years ago in Beatrice that his car flipped end-over-end twice. He walked away from it.

"Knowing how to handle your car is the most important thing about the track today," he said. "Now with every car out there a good one — it's experience that counts."

Starting during the first year of the former Capital Beach Race Track in west

Lincoln, he attended a few races there and then bought a 1937 Ford Coupe and built his first race car around it.

"You know every year there is at least twice the number of cars on the track as there were when I started. I think longer half-mile tracks are coming because there are so many cars."

"I can't really see how we can go any faster," he said. "Perhaps asphalt tracks will come sooner or later but I prefer dirt. They are not as slick when wet, and they can be worked into shape easier too," he said.

Lahodny would like to see tracks with higher banks comparable to the Belleville, Kan., track, since he is a Belleville native.

"I would rather drive on the track than on any highway. I can trust the track drivers around me," he said. "Safety is undoubtedly the biggest thing in racing today, and I think our Nebraska Super-Modified Racing Association is tops when it comes to this," he said.

The driver standings:

1. Lloyd Beckman, 1214; 2. Joe Saldana, 844; 3. Lonnie Jensen, 844; 4. Jan Opperman, 733; 5. Roy McCain, 701; 6. Frank Brenfender, 587; 7. Kenny Griz, 471; 8. Jack Pardee, 354; 9. Leon Lahodny, 389; 10. Roger Rager, 352.

Britt Horse Tops Field For Derby

Sam Britt's Mighty Classy, fresh from a triumph in the Littleton Speed Handicap at Centennial Park June 27, heads a field of eight going postward to Saturday's $4,000-added Lincoln Derby.

The mile test for three-year-olds gets top billing on one of the finest cards ever put together for the Fairgrounds races.

With added money included the purse will total about $6,200, largest in Fairgrounds racing history.

Two Bobbs, winner of the Nebraska Derby at Fonner Park, also figures prominently in the Lincoln Derby as does the improving Dorcourt, third behind Kem Jr. and Lil Big in the Ak-Sar-Ben Breeders' Special.

Sharing top impost of 117 pounds are Dorcourt, Triple Sun and Great Going. Mighty Classy gets 115 pounds and Two Bobbs 114.

The co-featured seventh race brings back Bold Sword, winner of the Inaugural Purse Wednesday, and the beaten favorite in the same race Bob 'N' Swoon.

Teenage Netters Urged To Enter Jacobin Tourney

With the Tuesday deadline for entering the Jacobin Club Tennis Tournament only a few days away, tournament director Bill North is staging a last-minute drive to fill out his brackets.

North says he particularly urges teenage players to compete. The point of the tournament, North said, is to encourage young people to develop a tennis game for the life-long enjoyment they can derive from it.

Trophies will be awarded winners in 19 separate events, North said.

Consolation matches will be arranged at the convenience of the players and the tournament directors.

Entry blanks may be obtained at the YMCA, YWCA, University of Nebraska Courts, Woods Courts, and City Recreation. The entry fee is $1.

Rockford, Ill. (P) — Four of the country's top collegiate golfers advanced to the semifinals of the 67th Western Amateur Golf Tournament over the Rockford Country Club course.

The quartet was led by Howard Twitty, 20, of Phoenix, who'll be a member of the Arizona State University team this fall who turned in a blazing afternoon round which included three eagles and two birdies to eliminate Tommy Watson of Kansas City 1-up.

The other semifinal match pairs Steve Melnyk of Brunswick, Ga., a University of Florida standout who eliminated Lynn Janson, East Lansing, Mich., the captain of the Michigan State team 4 and 3, with Dean Overturf of Dallas.

Haynie Captures Supertest Lead

Toronto (P) — Consistent Sandra Haynie, a tiny Texan who is one of the biggest hitters on the tour, fired a three-under-par 70 Friday and grabbed a one-shot lead after the first round of the $22,000 Supertest Open Golf Championship.

One shot back, at 71 was defending champion Carol Mann, the long-stemmed blonde from Buffalo, N.Y., who is also after her third victory this year. Miss Mann missed a three-footer at the ninth for a par and a chance for a tie for the lead.

Britain Criticizes Israel, Egypt Acts

London (UPI) — Britain Friday warned Egypt and Israel against escalating their conflict to the point of war on the eve of a new U.S.-Soviet Middle East peace effort.

Foreign Office Minister Goronwy Roberts conveyed the warning to the hastily summoned Egyptian and Israeli envoys after all day consultations Thursday with U.S. Assistant Secretary Joseph Sisco. He is on his way to Moscow for Mideast talks with the Kremlin.

Diplomatic sources said the allies are alarmed by the mounting tension in the Middle East and both sides have been urged to avert a blow-up into another full scale war.

Sisco, who conferred with the French leaders in Paris Friday was scheduled to arrive in Moscow this weekend for a new round of Big Two talks on possible new ways to tackle the deepening Middle East crisis.

The chances of agreement appeared slender, however, with differences on key issues of a settlement reported almost as wide as ever.

Egypt rejected a recent 13-point American plan for a settlement. Russia produced a counter plan last month, worked out by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko with President Gamal Abdel Nasser in Cairo in June.

In its present form, the Russian plan was authoritatively reported to be unacceptable to Washington but it apparently offered a basis for further exploration. Essentially, it rejected any Arab territorial concession to Israel and insisted on Israeli withdrawal from occupied territories without the key safeguards demanded by the Israelis.

The latest Soviet-American peace probe is being kept secret.

But diplomatic sources indicated that the United States believes Israeli withdrawal should be geared to adequate Arab concessions and be limited to Egyptian territory in its first round. On the other hand Russia wants the pull back to be carried out from all Arab territories simultaneously.

Penal Officials Are Indicted For Beatings

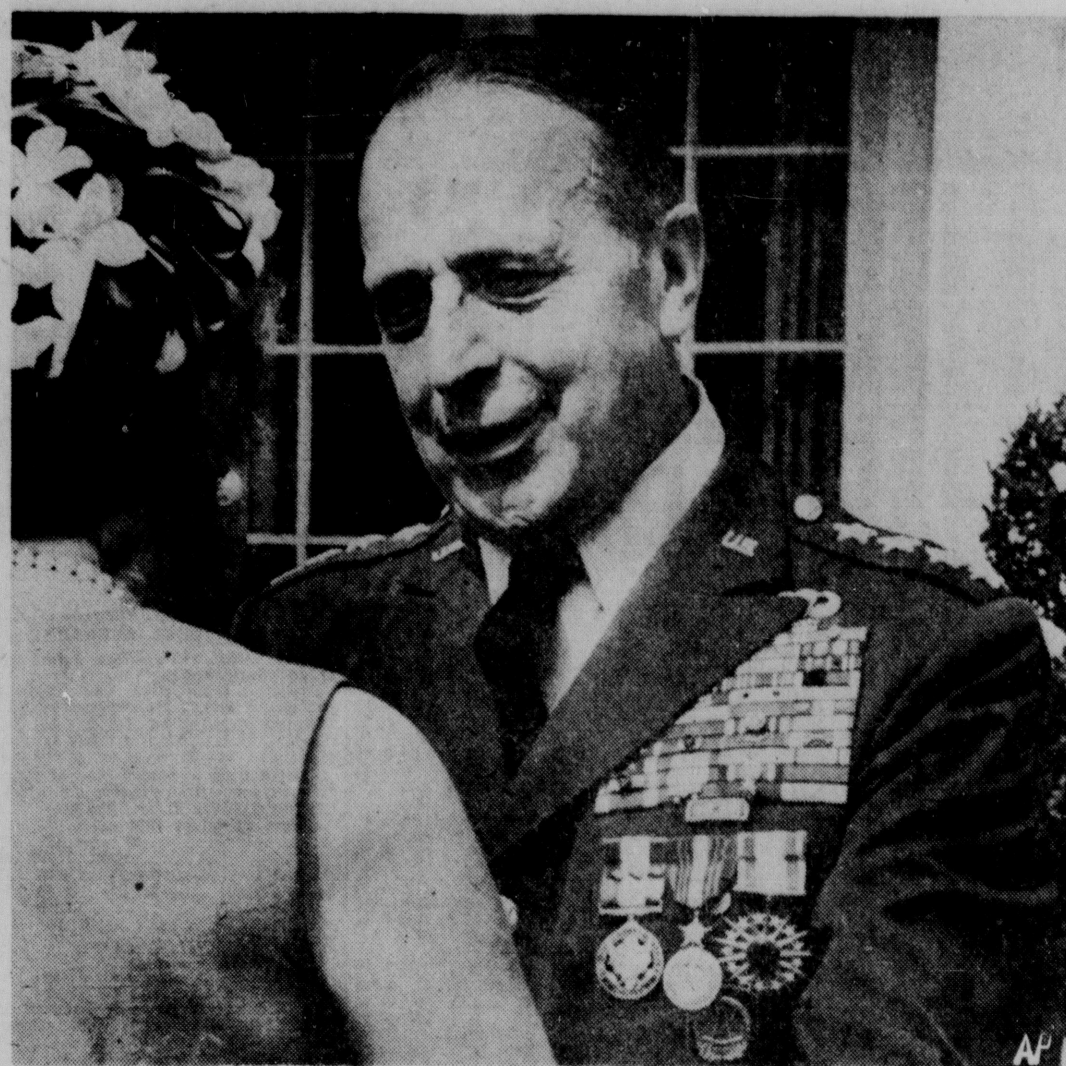

Washington (AP) — A federal grand jury Friday indicted 15 employees and trustees at three Arkansas penal institutions on charges of beating and otherwise punishing prisoners, the Justice Department announced.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said the 15 were accused in a total of four indictments returned by a federal grand jury in Little Rock. A total of 19 counts were returned against a former prison official.

The indictments came after a long investigation that focused on accusations of brutality at the Arkansas State Penitentiary and two county penal farms.

The alleged incidents covered a four-year period.

The alleged beatings occurred, the indictments said, at the Tucker and Cummins units of the Arkansas State Penitentiary, the Mississippi County penal farm and the Pulaski County penal farm.

MILITARY HONORS GENERAL

Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, former U.S. and allied commander in Europe, wears the Distinguished Service Medal of the Army, Navy and Air Force as his wife comes to congratulate him at the White House Friday. The unprecedented three-service award was made by President Nixon to the general who retired July 1 after 51 years in the military.

Soviets Free American, German Companion

Moscow (UPI) — Soviet authorities Friday released an American army officer held since July 4 after his storm-driven civilian plane made an emergency landing on the Black Sea coast of the Soviet Union, a U.S. Embassy spokesman reported.

Released with Lt. Col. George Patterson of Chamblee, Ga., was his West German flying companion, Dr. Karl Sichelstiel. Both had been held by Soviet authorities in the port city of Batumi on charges of violating Soviet air space.

Patterson and Sichelstiel were taking part in a mass flight over Turkey of 44 light planes of a West German flying club when the storm struck. Their plane was blown across the border and landed near Batumi, on the eastern end of the Black Sea and the closest major Soviet city to the border with Turkey.

The American spokesman said Soviet foreign ministry informed the embassy Friday that Soviet officials had decided not to press charges against Patterson, 39, or Sichelstiel and both had been told they could leave immediately.

Western observers said the Soviets from the start appeared determined not to make a major issue of the incident.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.
